Seek $61,500 To Fill Community Chest For Coming Year

1930 Community Chest Campaign Gets Under Way

Budget For Ensuing Year Is Reduced $6,000 Through Economies

PUBLIC ASKED TO SUBSCRIBE $61,500

General Campaign Will Open October 6—Advanced Gifts Solicited Now

Announcement was made today by Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson, president, that the 1930 Community Chest campaign will be inaugurated here starting Monday, October 6, when the citizens of New Castle will be asked to contribute $61,500 for the support of the various institutions operating under the Community Chest.

This is a reduction of $6,000 from the amount raised last year, this amount having been arrived at after a careful scrutiny of the budgets of the eight institutions operating under the chest, economies having been effected in the budgets of the institutions and the cost of administering the campaign.

The campaign is really under way at the present time, the advanced gifts committee having started their task of soliciting the larger contributors to the chest. This work will be continued throughout the remainder of this week and next, when the general drive will be gotten under way.

Judge James A. Chambers has been named general chairman of the institution drive to start October 6, which will get under way with a breakfast at The Castleton at 8 o'clock in the morning. It is hoped to end the general campaign as quickly as possible and a picked crew of solicitors will start to work at this time with that end in view.

Every agency operating under the Community Chest has been asked to reduce their budget for the coming year as much as possible and all have cooperated willingly.

In addition the expense of putting on the campaign will be negligible.

PA NEW OBSERVES

There is a report throughout the city that the New Castle-Youngstown highway may be widened next year.

This is mushroom gathering time and a few days ago one of Pa New's family saw Tom Richards with a basket filled in the vicinity of Harlanburg. Another who got a bushel basket filled was Mr. Studtaker who resides beyond Elliott's bridge. Persons who do not know mushrooms should not take any chance on them. They may eat a toadstool and then—goodbye.

City gardeners have left the public square in a splendid shape, as passersby will notice. Bushes have been trimmed, the grass mowed and the plot in general certainly appears well.

A shipment of red squirrels consigned to the county game warden was received at a local express office today. The furry tails will probably be released some time in the near future.

Pa New observes that no warning lights have been placed along part of North Mercer street, where the sidewalk is being repaired following the construction of a conduit by the Bell Telephone company. This is a violation of a city ordinance and is a menace to the public who have occasion to use this thoroughfare.

One of Pa New's family who was recently confined in the U. S. Naval hospital in Washington happened to turn over the cup in which his coffee had been served, and there on

Youngstown Elections Scandal Probe Results In Number Losing Jobs

James P. Scanlon, Chairman Of Elections Board Is Among Those Dismissed

Two Resign Board Positions, While "By" Morgan Is Dismissed Under Indictment

(International News Service)
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 24—State agents today were in charge of the Mahoning County Board of Elections following rapid-fire developments late yesterday which included the dismissal of Jas. P. Scanlon, chairman of the Board, and Earl W. Reilly, member of the elections body, for malfeasance, misfeasance and nonfeasance in office.

Scanlon and Reilly, both Democrats, were dismissed by Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, dropping of the men following closely upon action of the grand jury last Friday in returning indictments against them.

W. C. Simcox, and J. A. Arnold, Republican members of the election board, tendered their resignation late yesterday. Byron W. Morgan, also a Republican and Deputy Clerk of the Board, was removed on the same charges as Scanlon and Reilly.

Simcox and Arnold, while not indicted by the grand jury, were rebuked for nonfeasance and negligence. Brown said, "Morgan was indicted. One reinstatement marked yesterday's activities. Frank Kearney, Democratic clerk of the board, was reinstated after having been suspended last Friday. Other employees of the board will not be reinstated, Brown said, until the new board is named and passes on the employees' qualifications.

Brown declined to say whether further indictments were expected but did declare that the election board scandal "is worse than any we ever have uncovered in any Ohio county."

Major Wadlinger New Legion Head

Elected At Annual Voting At Legion Home Last Night

OTHER OFFICERS ALSO SELECTED

Major Guy J. Wadlinger will head the Perry S. Gaston Post No. 343, American Legion for the next year, his election coming Tuesday evening when the post held its annual election. Inasmuch as he was the only nominee in the race his election was a matter of course.

With Major Wadlinger the following officers were elected: Senior Vice Commander, W. Glenn Berry, Junior Vice Commander, Orville Potter, Post Finance Officer, John D. Kennedy, Post Historian, W. Harold Blewitt, Sergeant-At-Arms, Willis White, Trustee, H. H. Rosenthal. The adjutant will be appointed later.

Post in Good Condition
Reports made at the election showed the post to be in splendid shape and the membership roster shows a larger number of men than any previous time. In the past three years Perry S. Gaston Post has ranked among the leaders of Pennsylvania in membership gains and the new commander hopes to further increase it during his regime.

The national convention of the American Legion to be held in Boston, Mass., in October was discussed and Chairman Thomas Edmunds reported that a full car would leave New Castle. The special car will be used as a hotel in Boston and the necessity of getting hotel rooms avoided.

Many Cars Using Perry Highway

Popularity of the newly completed Perry Highway is evidenced by the number of machines which are now using that route.

Sunday afternoon, J. R. Pizer, a resident of Mercer who lives along the Perry Highway, kept a count of the number of machines passing his home during a five hour period, and found that they numbered 1,668 cars. Traffic was heaviest between four and five o'clock.

NEW DIRECTOR

MISS CAROLINE STREETER

The most recently appointed member of the secretarial staff of the local Young Woman's Christian Association is Miss Caroline Streeter, of Exeter, N. Y.

This is the first week of Miss Streeter's duties here. She is the new director of the department of physical education, having taken the place of Miss Dorothy K. Stewart, who resigned.

Miss Streeter at the present time is arranging a tentative program for the coming winter gym classes, health classes and sporting events. She has already gained great popularity with all who have met her and indications are that she will have a very successful administration.

Eucharistic Mass Today Will Draw Fifty Thousand

Most Colorful Part Of Entire Eucharistic Congress Will Take Place Today

(International News Service)
OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 24—Fifty thousand persons are expected to fill Creighton University's stadium here tonight to take part in the huge eucharistic mass meeting, regarded as the most colorful spectacle of the entire congress.

A procession will start the ceremony at 7 p. m. followed by an address by Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago at 8 p. m. Cardinal Mundelein's message is to be broadcast. Judge Martin T. Manton of New York will also speak.

With the huge stadium lighted only by flickering candles held aloft by the audience, the congregation will repeat the Holy Name pledge uttered by the Very Rev. Michael J. Rippe, of New York. This ceremony is considered the greatest spectacle of the session.

Opening business sessions were held yesterday.

Still Makers Are Convicted

(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., Sept. 24—Attorneys and prohibition authorities today were discussing the government's victory in a new type of liquor conspiracy case—that of convicting manufacturers of stills used to illegally make liquor for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law.

S. G. Warren, owner of the Sheet Metal Company of Erie, and Stanley Dekowski, also of Erie, were convicted during a trial in the United States district court here yesterday.

The government claimed that the Sheet Metal Company manufactured stills which were used in making liquor. It was said to be the first conviction of its kind ever recorded in the Federal district court.

Mrs. C. C. Horner and daughter, Louise, of this city, who left several days ago to visit their son and brother in California, are expected to have arrived at their destination today.

Kills Wife And Four Children, Commits Suicide

Farmer Worrying Over Financial Matters Slays Wife, Four Children, Kills Self

DEATHS PLANNED OFFICIALS THINK

(International News Service)
YORK, Pa., Sept. 24—Desperate over financial difficulties, Harry Dietrich, 40, a farmer near Spry, seven miles south of here, killed his wife and four children with an axe and then hanged himself from a rafter in his barn, it was disclosed here today.

Dietrich left a note in which he said "I am sorry" motivated his action and that the family had "decided to die together."

Find Bodies
First word of the slaying reached here late last night after Jacob Epply, Spry merchant, went to the Dietrich farm to learn why an order for potatoes had not been delivered to him Saturday.

In the barn, Epply found Dietrich's body suspended from a rafter, the bodies of Mrs. Dietrich and the children, Mabel 11, Paul 10, Anna 8 and Joe 5, lay in the kitchen of the farmhouse. All had been killed by blows from an axe.

The slaying evidently took place Sunday night, Coroner I. U. Zech said today after he had visited the farm and investigated.

The coroner said that the farmer evidently had strangled his family with binder twine and after they had become unconscious had killed them with an axe.

City Solicitor Robert White this afternoon announced he had received word that the public service commission had approved the sale of the municipal conduit to the Bell Telephone company for $70,000.

Solicitor White also stated that a representative of the Bell company had informed him the money would be paid to the city within a few days.

New Castle Woman Finds Fish With License Plate

Mrs. Ruth Crawford, wife of Dr. James D. Crawford, of Crawford avenue this city, made a most unusual discovery of a cod fish bearing a license plate. The fish was caught in Nova Scotia where the Crawfords are vacationing. Considerable comment was heard on the newest fish yarn, but in this case it actually happened.

The Digby Nova Scotia Weekly Courier had the following comment to make on the rather unusual event: "Fashions change—even under water. Last Friday a party of fishermen from the Lour Lodge, Digby, cavorting merrily about the Bay of Fundy in Captain Hayden's sturdy yacht, 'Aphrodite,' learned this with a vengeance. They caught a fish duly rigged out with a license plate. An aluminum tag bearing the legend 'U. S. B. F. 8155' was secured by a clamp under the mouth of the fish, which was a cod weighing about three pounds.

The plate was discovered by Mrs. Ruth Crawford, of New Castle, Pennsylvania, soon after the fish had been caught. "Oh, what does this mean!" Mrs. Crawford exclaimed, much surprised. Professor Samuel DeHart, of Mountain View, New Jersey, and Dr. J. D. Crawford, the discoverer's husband, at once hit upon the solution. He explained that no doubt the fish had been given its number by the United States Bureau of Fisheries. James Duff, of New Brighton, Pennsylvania, another of the passengers, insisted that the fish had come to Canada for a drink. He was headed for the Gap and looked thirsty when caught.

The labeled wanderer from the States was probably caught by Freeman Harrison, of Livingston, New Jersey, but as the lines of most of the party were crossed during much of the time, this cannot be definitely established. There is a theory that the cod was not caught at all, but leaped aboard, enticed or perhaps blinded by the resplendent and superb sailing togs of Commodore George W. Ryerson, of Pequannock, New Jersey. The Commodore himself admits this is possible. Miss Ella VanNess, of Mountain View, another voyager, agrees.

The United States Bureau of Fisheries has been notified of the arrival of its Cod, No. 8155 in Canadian waters.

Body Is Ground To Pieces Under Engine Wheels

Remains Of Mike Mastranduno, Or Masters, Found In Pennsylvania Yards

WAS OLD EMPLOYEE OF COMPANY HERE

Believed That He Became Confused By Engine Headlight While On Tracks

His body completely severed below the armpits, the remains of Mike Mastranduno, aged about 40 of Willow Grove, was found along Pennsylvania tracks in the yards at Lawrence junction about 10 o'clock last night. Mastranduno's head and shoulders were lying inside the rails of a north bound track, while his legs and the lower part of his body was outside the rails. Mastranduno is also known as Mike Masters, the latter being his American name.

Mastranduno, who lived in the Charles McFate house at Willow Grove, had been employed at the Pennsylvania roundhouse for the past fifteen or sixteen years, according to information given Coroner J. P. Caldwell by engine house foreman, R. E. O'Donnell. Investigation shows that Mastranduno quit work at the roundhouse about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

He placed his dinner bucket on a rack in the roundhouse and started up town to make some purchases and pay some bills. He stopped in Mahoningtown and talked to Frank Marlin around 6 o'clock. He had completed his purchases and was on his way home.

Last Seen Alive
At about 7:20 p. m. John Zarillo saw him get his dinner bucket at the roundhouse and start out of the building. That was the last seen of him alive. His body was found by railroad employees about 10 o'clock about five hundred yards south of the roundhouse.

Burglars Attempt To Enter Residence

Rudolph Home On Croton Avenue Scene Of Robbery Attempt

Tuesday evening about 11 o'clock the police were called to the home of I. S. Rudolph, 726 Croton avenue, to see if they could locate prowlers who had attempted to get into the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph were entertaining a group of friends at their cottage near Volant and had left the house early in the evening, leaving their dog in the house. About 11 o'clock the neighbors heard the dog making a fuss and barking as if some one who was not familiar was bothering him and upon investigation found some one trying to get in a window. Upon the arrival of neighbors upon the scene the burglar left unceremoniously after having one of the downstairs windows forced open.

Police were called but upon their arrival could find no trace of the intruder although they are now working upon the case. Some one called the Rudolphs at their country cottage and they immediately came home but found nothing in the house had been disturbed.

Byers had been shot eight times while Gray was found with two bullets in his chest.

SULLIVAN IS FOUND GUILTY

Jury Returns Manslaughter Verdict After Hearing Evidence

CASE CONCLUDED TUESDAY AFTERNOON

At nine fifteen this morning the jury trying Eugene Sullivan for the death of A. J. Nader, found him guilty of manslaughter, the crime with which he was charged. The verdict was returned Tuesday afternoon, being opened when court convened today.

Nader was killed when Sullivan knocked him to the sidewalk on the night of July 24 in front of the lunch room he ran on West Washington street. After hearing the facts in the case the grand jury reduced the crime from first degree murder to manslaughter.

The maximum penalty for manslaughter is from six to twelve years imprisonment.

Defense In Case
Little time was taken by the defense in presenting its side of the case against Eugene Sullivan, Tuesday afternoon. In Lawrence county court room number two, Sullivan appeared in his own behalf, and called Harry Jennings and James Mangini. Sullivan is charged with manslaughter in the death of A. J. Nader which occurred on July 24th in the Commodore lunch room on West Washington street.

Sullivan's story was that on the (Continued On Page Two)

Iron Pipe Comes In Contact With Electric Wire And Woman Is Killed

HAD HOLD ON PIPE WHEN CONTACT CAME

Mrs. Mary Fasano, 53, Of Harbor Road Is Victim Of Accident

Mrs. Mary Gracia Fasano, aged 53, wife of Pasquale Fasano, Harbor Road, R. D. No. 2, was electrocuted about 10:30 o'clock this morning, when the pipe of the well on the Fasano place, which was being hoisted from the well, buckled and broke, causing the pipe, made top heavy by the iron pump at the top, to topple over on the primary wires of the electric distribution line along the highway, and she sustained the effect of the electric current as it followed the pipe to the ground.

Death was not instantaneous but occurred before an ambulance in which she was being rushed to the New Castle hospital could reach that institution. The others, assisting the husband, Francisco Gracia, and a nephew, Pasquale Fasano, aged 16, were little the worse of their experience.

Mysterious Blast Kills Akron Man

Police Probe Death Of Akron Salesman As Blast Wrecks Automobile

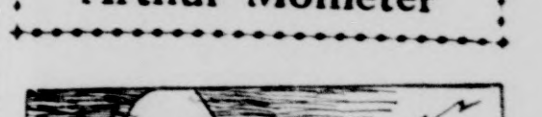

(International News Service)
AKRON, O., Sept. 24—A police investigation got under way today into the mysterious blast which fatally injured Clarence R. Barnes, 43-year-old salesman and ripped to pieces the borrowed automobile in which he was riding here last night.

Barnes was hurled from the machine into a field 40 feet away by the terrific explosion. He died in City hospital. Possible dynamite—had been concealed in the car which the salesman had borrowed from a roomer at his home.

Against this theory, however, was the belief that the blast would have occurred sooner than it did, were it not for an internal machine hidden in the car, as Barnes had been driving the automobile some hours before the explosion.

In things to eat and things to wear and what the weather is and why, I am not hard to please I think, and for such days as these are, I believe in beating on the drum and striking up a roundelay. It's perfect most, it suits me well, its warm and eighty one today. The summer lingers into fall, and ripens spuds out in the field it gives the farmer pleasant thoughts, as he surveys his pickle yield. The fruit is picked, the hay is in, the onions nod their verdant stems, and down among the cabbages are found a flock of kraut like gems. This is a rather goofy verse, but then the weather brings it on, and I am hoping it will stay until Thanksgiving Day is gone.

W. E. Browne Passes Away

Death Takes Place At Home On Glenmore Boulevard

BORN IN NEW CASTLE IN 1847

William Eichbaum Browne, one of the city's older and better known citizens, and a member of one of the pioneer families of this community, died at 11:45 o'clock this morning at the family residence, 133 Glenmore boulevard, following an illness of some time and due to his advanced age.

Mr. Browne was born June 13, 1847, in this city, the son of the late Rev. Robert Audley and Mary Eichbaum Browne, and was 83 years of age.

He attended Westminster college during the period that his father was president of that institution. In his earlier life, he followed the lumber business in Forest county. During the past 35 years he had been a resident of this city. He had been retired from active business for quite a number of years.

Mr. Browne was a member of "one of the best known and highly respected families of this district. His father, the late Rev. Dr. Robert Audley Browne, was the organizer and pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of this city for more than 50 years, and he also served throughout the Civil war as chaplain of the famous 100th Pennsylvania (Roundhead) Volunteer Infantry. He also served Westminster college as president for several years.

The deceased was a member of the First United Presbyterian church, also of the Roundhead Regimental association and the Old Timers association.

He was active in the Old Timers Day observance this year as a director and member of the committee in charge and the reunion at Cascade park was one of the last events he was able to attend.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Grace Findley Browne; one son, Robert Audley Browne of Oil City, and two daughters, Miss Mary E. and Miss Grace C. Browne of this city; also a sister, Miss Rebecca E. Browne of this city, a grandson, a granddaughter and one great-granddaughter.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

ONE CAR TAKEN FROM CITY STREETS

It was necessary last night by the street department to have but one car towed into a garage for being parked on a downtown street and interfering with the sweeping of the streets. This is the smallest number in many weeks. The owner secured his car by paying the towing fee.

SAFETY CONFAB ON PROGRAM TOMORROW

Employees representing every section and every department of work of the Erie and Ashtabula division of the Pennsylvania lines are expected to convene in New Castle for Superintendent H. T. Frushour's monthly safety conference, Thursday afternoon. Routine matters will be discussed.

The Hick Company was a large user of sperm oil. The representative of an oil company called on Mr. Hicks one day and made so attractive a price on a quantity of sperm oil that Mr. Hicks bought a large quantity at a stated price per gallon.

But apparently because the sperm oil supply is subject to great variations, Mr. Hicks made a written promise to pay an additional amount of money on top of the full amount of the order if, between April 1 and October 1, of that year, there arrived more oil than the year before. If no more oil arrived the bonus need not be paid. No sperm oil boats arrived until October 1, the last day of the period in the proviso. Then a vessel known to be carrying a cargo of sperm oil entered the harbor. On the strength of this arrival Mr. Hicks refused to pay the bonus, but the oil dealer argued that while the vessel did arrive on October 1, it did not come to anchor until after midnight and "therefore he was entitled to the bonus, and as filed suit."

The bottom was the inscription, "Shenango Pottery Co., New Castle, Pa." It made him feel right at home.

One of Pa New's friends, while near Millington, Pa., saw a novel way to sell pups. The pups were located in a wire cage and the cage was located on a pole along the highway. Ah who could resist buying one of the lonesome, puzzled animals?

This seems to have been an excellent year for all the Night Blooming Cereus plants of the city. They have, during the past week, been blooming for all they are worth! Pa New saw several. They certainly are beautiful things.

Activities at the Y. W. C. A. are going on full swing. Parties are being held, classes being organized, committees meeting and winter plans in progress.

Men are still working on the pointing up job at the postoffice. The exterior walls are being gone over and cement placed where it is needed between the stones.

Noticed yesterday that the traffic light is still up at the corner of Atlantic avenue and West Washington street. Pa New expects to miss it any day now.

had passed over the track on which the body was found. This was some where between 7:30 and 8 o'clock. There were no cars attached to the engine and none of those on it saw anybody on the tracks. Examination of the engine "horns" in the roundhouse this morning failed to show any blood stains, but it is believed that the wheels might have run over Mastranduno and not left any marks.

There is a switch about thirty feet from the point where the accident occurred and at the point where the body was found the two sets of tracks leading from the switch are only a few feet apart. It is believed that Mastranduno, who was presumably walking on the east track, believed that the engine was taking the west switch. The headlight was toward him, and he may have been confused in the blinding light. Engineer McClurg was on the opposite side of the cab from where the body was found. Mastranduno is survived by his wife Annie Nocera Mastranduno and six children, also two brothers, Andy and Charles of this city, and four sisters, Mary Miniceno, Carrie Valonia, Jennie Piscatella and Margaret Taranda.

Body of Mastranduno is now at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Valonia 223 South Cedar street, from which place the funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

night of the trouble, he had gone into the Commodore Lunch and saw Elmo Clark. He asked Clark if he would go upstairs, and then he (Sullivan) went up and waited. Asked why he went up he said that Elmo Clark had been selling liquor and that it was delivered in a room upstairs. He said that Clark had sold him liquor many times.

Pushed Nader Sullivan admitted having been drinking and said that he had walked into the restaurant and attempted to talk to some men who were sitting at a table. Later Mr. Nader led him out of the restaurant and as they got to the door Sullivan claims Nader grabbed him by the arm and called him a foul name.

Sullivan claimed he threw Nader's arm away from him and then as Nader lunged towards him he pushed him in the face with his open hand. He did not strike him with his closed fist Sullivan insisted, but merely endeavored to push him away. Nader dropped to the sidewalk and Sullivan left. He said he did not know that Nader was hurt badly. Later Johnny Nader and Elmo Clark got Sullivan on West Washington street. Sullivan also said that Elmo Clark had promised to "get even" with him because of an argument in a game of rum. This statement was corroborated by Harry Jennings and James Mangino who testified that they had been in the rum game some time previous to the slaying, and that Sullivan had taken some money from Clark which was owing to Sullivan. At this Clark was threatened to "get even" they said.

Commonwealth Closes The commonwealth closed its case about 2:30 o'clock. Elmo Clark testified to Sullivan's coming into the restaurant and getting abusive, how Mr. Nader had led him out by the arm and how Sullivan had struck him in the face, knocking him down. When Sullivan ran up the street Clark said he had gone after him and brought him back.

Johnny Nader, young son of the deceased man testified and told a story similar to Clark. Police Officers Robert Letera, J. D. Thomas, Captain J. Ed Elder and James Steiner all testified to Sullivan's arrest and a statement made in the city jail in which Sullivan told them he had had an argument with Nader and had knocked him down.

When Harry Jennings was testifying for the defense, he said that during the noon recess Mrs. A. J. Nader, widow of the deceased man had said to him "what are you doing in the court house?"

He told her that he was testifying for Eugene Sullivan, whereupon Mrs. Nader threatened that if he did testify for the defense she would have him arrested for a board bill of $22.00 he owed her, he said.

The arguments in the case started at 3:45 o'clock and the jury took the case at 5:00.

RAISING PUMP FROM WELL, CAUSE OF FATAL SHOCK

the well, which was in the front yard of the Fasana property by means of a block and tackle. Mr. and Mrs. Fasana and Francisco Graco had hold of the iron pipe, while the nephew Pasquale, had hold of the rope being used with the block and tackle in raising the pipe and pump from the well and attached to large tree standing adjacent to the well.

The pump and pipe had been successfully raised for its entire length from the well, when the pipe, old and rust eaten buckled and broke, about twelve or fifteen feet from the bottom, due to the top heavy condition created by the iron pump, and the upper section fell over on the primary electric wires of the distribution line running along the highway just outside the fence of the property. The wires were about thirty feet from the ground.

The immediate effect, due to the exertions of the three persons holding the pipe and the dampness of the pipe, was to cause these persons to cling to the pipe when the electric current sought the ground through the pipe.

The husband managed in some manner to get loose and immediately grasped his wife to tear her loose. The effect was that both were subjected to the current. Francisco Graco was also held to the pipe. In the meantime, the nephew, Pasquale Fasana rushed to the assistance of all those involved and his timely assistance is probably all that saved the lives of the others. He managed to knock Graco loose, then got his aunt and uncle loose.

He rushed to the road and stopped a machine and sent out a call for aid and soon an ambulance was on the way. The husband and nephew accompanied the injured woman in the ambulance, while Graco remained behind to care for the pipe.

Mrs. Fasana had been a resident of the New Castle District for seventeen years. She was a member of St. Vitus church. She is survived by her husband, and two nieces Mary and Millie Fasana and one nephew Pasquale Fasana who she had raised since the death of their parents a number of years ago.

Funeral services will be held Saturday, September 27, 1930, at 9:30 a. m. in St. Vitus church. Interment will be made in St. Vitus cemetery.

STAR LORE WHEN THE SUN BECOMES FEEBLE

By Arthur DeV Carpenter Contemplating on the future evolution (unfolding) of the sun, astrophy-sicists (students of the physical nature of the stars), tell us that the sun may ultimately become a faint red dwarf, or it may wind up as a white dwarf. Our sun is no longer in the giant class of stars. It now ranks as a rather bright dwarf. Of course no one was here to see it when it was in the giant stage, but the astrophy-sicist is familiar with the stars of the giant stage. One does not have to make long observations in a forest to become convinced that an old, declining tree was once a sapling or a vigorous giant.

SEARCH CONTINUES FOR JUDGE CRATER

was "going to Westchester for a swim."

Sally Indignant. YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 24.—Sally Lou Ritz, petite, blonde dancer of "Artists and Models" isn't hiding—not from anybody.

She knows nothing about the disappearance of Supreme Court Justice Joseph Force Crater of New York.

She "doesn't think anything happened to him anyway."

That was Miss Ritz' succinct summation today of her knowledge concerning the mysterious dropping from sight of the long sought jurist.

What does she know of Justice Crater?

"Less than I know of almost any one I ever met."

Her opinion of the whole case? "Just a political mixup."

Why did she leave her show in Chicago last week?

"To be with my father who was ill in Youngstown."

Miss Ritz said she visited her aunt in Pittsburgh Monday and returned to Youngstown the same night. She very much resents the imputation she was "in hiding."

Knows Nothing. "I know absolutely nothing about Judge Crater's disappearance," Sally declared. "The first I knew of it was when I read of it in the Chicago newspapers."

"My first and only meeting with Judge Crater was during dinner one evening in New York. I was having dinner with mother, father and William Klein, a theatre lawyer, when Judge Crater came in and sat down at our table."

"He was a friend of Mr. Klein's. I thought he was a charming gentleman. The last I saw of him was when we got in our car. He was standing near the restaurant, smiling. He said he was going to Westchester for a swim and then was going to Maine the next day to see his wife."

Miss Ritz (her family name is Ritz) is believed to have been one of the last persons to see Judge Crater before his mysterious disappearance.

Col. Robins Fails To Reach New Castle For Morning Session

Col. Raymond Robins, of New York, scheduled to speak at the closing session of the First Synod of the West, being held at the Highland United Presbyterian church in this city, at ten o'clock this morning, did not arrive until noon, so that his address was a feature of the after dinner session.

HOME-TALENT STUNT AT KIWANIS SESSION

New Castle Kiwanis, meeting in the Elks club today, were treated again to one of their humorous home-talent programs. "Motion Court" was what it was called, and Judge R. L. Declare Pick-up Air Mail Device Not Satisfactory

Post Office Department Officials Explain Abandonment Of Device Here

(From News Bureau) (State Capital)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 24.—Experiments at New Castle and Beaver Falls with the Adams automatic air mail pickup device have failed to prove the practicality of such service and the use of the device by United States air-mail planes has been definitely abandoned. Such is the explanation offered at the post office department of the letter sent to Postmaster Crawford by the second assistant postmaster general advising him that use of the device at New Castle would be discontinued.

Officials of the second assistant's office admitted today that all use of the device has been abandoned by the post office department. They were reluctant to discuss the matter but went so far as to state that the reason the department has eliminated the service is because the operator of the Pittsburgh-Cleveland air line asked to be relieved of the obligation of having his planes use the automatic postmen at Beaver Falls and New Castle.

One attache of the second assistant postmaster's staff put it bluntly by asserting that "We're absolutely done with the pick-ups. They've been a failure."

It was explained by Charles C. Gove, deputy second assistant postmaster general and chief clerk that when the Adams devices were installed at New Castle and Beaver Falls last Spring they were purely an experiment. The operator of the air line requested permission of the post office department to try out the devices and the department granted such permission. Now the devices have proved unsatisfactory, the air line operator has asked to be relieved of further pick-up service, and the department has instructed the operator that he need not make further use of the devices, Mr. Gove said.

Next Synod To Meet At Butler

Gathering Here Is Concluded With Afternoon Session Today

The Synod of the West concluded their sessions with this morning's meetings, at which time Rev. J. I. Moore, D. D., of Youngstown led the devotional period, concluding the theme of the Synod with a discourse on "The Program of the Holy Spirit." Business of routine nature was transacted and resolutions put before the body, with reports of the American Bible society being given by Rev. G. W. Brown of New York City, a former pastor at Harrisville, and Rev. J. F. Bradford, D. D., of Chicago giving the report of the board of education.

The meeting place for next year was chosen at Butler, Pa., the Second United Presbyterian church, of which Rev. S. C. Gamble, D. D., is pastor. Rev. J. W. Springer of Emsworth served throughout the session as clerk with W. H. Hunbell of Cleveland as assistant.

OLDEST BRIDGE DOOMED ALBI (Tarn), Sept. 24.—The oldest bridge in France and one of the oldest in Europe, thrown across the Tarn river here in 1035, is to be torn down. Still capable of carrying normal loads in normal times, the bridge proved hopelessly inadequate, as well as dangerous, during last spring's disastrous floods.

Y.; Walter O., of Woodbridge, N. J.; and Paul J., of New Brunswick, N. J. One brother, Will Bovard, of Atlantic, Pa., also survives.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Shelenger Funeral

Funeral services for Alfred F. Shelenger of East Brook were held from the East Brook U. P. church on Tuesday afternoon with Rev. J. W. St. Clair officiating. The crowd which filled the church and the many beautiful floral tributes betokened the esteem in which Mr. Shelenger had been held in the community.

Pallbearers were relatives of the deceased and interment was made in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Maria T. Sbarro

Mrs. Maria Teresa Sbarro, aged 58, of 22 Center street, died this morning at 1:45 o'clock in the Jameson Memorial hospital following a lingering illness. She was a member of the Lady of Sorrows Sodality and of St. Vitus church. She is survived by three sons, Louis and John of this city, and Charles Sbarro of St. Fidelis Seminary, Herman, Pa., also two daughters, Mrs. Samuel Biasucci and Mrs. Frank Ritorio of New Castle and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock in St. Vitus church. Interment will be made in St. Vitus Cemetery.

Mr. Helstern's Funeral

Funeral services of the late Alois Helstern of 618 Ray street, were held this morning at nine o'clock in St. Joseph's church with Rev. Fr. Wessenberg of Butler, as celebrant of the requiem mass. The funeral was very largely attended and the floral tributes were many and beautiful. The pallbearers were Michael S. Uhl, L. W. Bartlett, T. J. Spier, H. F. Teget, J. P. Houlette and J. H. Brotherton. Interment was made in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

Mr. Alexander's Funeral

Funeral services of the late Samuel G. Alexander, were held from the late residence 306 West Cherry street, at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with Rev. David Siepp in charge and assisted by Rev. D. C. Schnelly. The Methodist choir rendered selections. The pallbearers were Audley Louer, Herman Alexander, Earl Weitz, Dale Louer, Bert Myers and Albert Diana. Interment was made in Graceland Cemetery.

Lois Jean Galbreath

Lois Jean Galbreath, aged three months, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Galbreath of Wampum, died last evening at the residence of her parents after an illness. She is survived by her parents and three sisters, Helen, Edna and May and one brother John. Funeral services will be held Thursday, September 25, 1930, at 4 p. m. daylight saving time from the family residence in Wampum. Interment will be made in Clinton cemetery.

Wenona E. Lowers

Wenona E. Lowers, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lowers of 902 West State street, died Tuesday evening at eight o'clock at the family residence after an illness of several years due to Bright's Disease. She was well and favorably known in a wide circle of friends. She attended the First Baptist church. She leaves her parents, one sister, Mrs. Clarence Hammond of Hammond, Indiana, and one brother Arthur Lowers of this city.

Funeral services will be held from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lowers, 902 West State street, on Friday, September 26, 1930 at 2 p. m. Interment will be made in Clinton Cemetery.

this year as last, the administration work of putting on the campaign having been taken care of by the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, who have contributed the services of their secretary, A. W. Chilton, and the entire organization of the Chamber of Commerce.

The various institutions who operate under the Community Chest are also aiding by contributing the services of their workers, so that no outside help will be called upon. Every bit of service rendered during the campaign will be done gratis by these workers, which will mean a saving of upwards of $5,000.

Members of the Ministerial association have volunteered to assist with the campaign by calling attention to the coming drive from their pulpits prior to the opening of the general campaign.

Every citizen of New Castle is asked to give as liberally as his means will permit during the coming campaign, and it is believed that the same splendid cooperation which was accorded the Community Chest workers last fall, will again be evidenced.

George Von Elm Defeats Hunter

Former Amateur Champion Plays Brilliant Golf In First Round Match

(International News Service) MERION CRICKET CLUB, SOUTH ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 24.—Playing golf such as he hasn't shown since his winning performance of 1926, George Von Elm made his farewell gesture in the direction of the National Amateur Golf Championship with a 6 up and 5 to play victory over "Chuck" Hunter in the first round this morning. The ex-champion never gave Hunter a chance, being 3 under par for the thirteen holes played.

RIPLEY-ALLEN WEDDING EVENT

A quiet home wedding and one of local interest was solemnized Tuesday at high noon in the country home of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ripley of Seville, Ohio, when their daughter Vera Lucille was united in marriage to Thornton W. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Allen of this city.

The ring ceremony was used with Rev. E. L. Lubold of Wadsworth, Ohio, officiating in the presence of only the immediate families and friends of the couple. The bride party stood before an altar of ferns and fall flowers and the home throughout was decorated with fall flowers.

The bride was attired in a gown of blue chiffon trimmed with lace and wore accessories to match. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas. Mrs. Roscoe W. Rich of Wooster, Ohio, her attendant wore a gown of tan crepe and accessories to match. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Roscoe W. Rich served as best man.

Supplementing the ceremony a dinner was served in the bride's home. Places were marked for ten and a color scheme of blue and white effectively carried out the appointments. The table was centered with a bouquet of blue delphinium.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen left on a motor trip to Niagara Falls, Thousand Islands, and Montreal. They will return through the Five Finger Lakes region of New York State. For traveling the bride wore a combination of brown and moire with accessories to match.

Mrs. Allen graduated from her local high school with the class of 1923 and attended Business College at Wooster, Ohio. For the past three years she has been employed by the Seville Elevator Co. of Seville, Ohio.

Mr. Allen graduated with the high school class of 1921 and is employed as a clerk at the post office.

They will be at home to their friends after October 15, at 1006 Wilmington avenue.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA HAS OPENING MEETING

The Misses Helen and Lucille McCannagh of Norwood avenue were pleasant hostesses Tuesday evening when they entertained the Alpha Gamma Delta alumnae chapter at their first fall meeting with Mrs. Merle B. Klinesmith as a special guest.

A business session, occupied the earlier hours, when matters of interest were discussed. Three new members were taken in at this time who were Miss Ruth Lewis, Miss Netta Round and Mrs. A. H. Bortland.

October 28 marks the date of the next gathering, when Mrs. Orville Brown and Mrs. R. J. Robinson will be the hostesses. This event will be in the form of a tureen for the undergraduates of the sorority at Westminster.

Jollikousins Club

Miss Vera McClelland was a charming hostess Tuesday evening to members of the Jollikousins Club when they met at the home of Mrs. R. C. Hindman of Prospect. Various games and guessing contests were pastimes, with prizes being won by Mrs. Florence DePuy, Mrs. Fred Pulford and Miss Gertrude McClelland.

During the evening Mrs. Thelma Gardner and Mrs. Florence DePuy were presented with a handkerchief shower in memory of the birthdays in behalf of club members.

Color tones of red and white were carried out in the serving of a delicious lunch, the hostess having assisted Mrs. R. C. Hindman, Mrs. Florence DePuy, Mrs. Jessie Brown, Mrs. Pulford, Miss Mary Matthews, Miss Genevieve Ramsey and Mrs. Clara Kehna.

In two weeks Mrs. Gladys Pulford of Woodlawn avenue will entertain the club at her home.

O. N. O. CLUB HAS

MEETING TUESDAY

The O. N. O. club members enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Maurice Boyd Tuesday evening when she received the club in her home for their regular meeting. Three tables of Bridge were in play as the chief pastime, with prizes being won by Mrs. Harold Unanue and Mrs. Lawrence Hogue for honors.

At a late hour, the hostess served a tempting lunch at the small tables prettily decorated for the occasion. Various bouquets of fall blooms were used throughout the home. The date of the next meeting will be announced later.

TUESDAY KENSINGTON WILL ELECT OFFICERS

Mrs. Fredrick G. Beer of Neshanock boulevard proved a delightful hostess Tuesday afternoon when she entertained the Tuesday Kensington members at a 1 o'clock luncheon. The hostess was assisted in serving a most delicious menu by Mrs. Stanley Tresser and Mrs. Charles M. Carpenter. The table was nicely arranged with flowers suggestive of the fall season. The remaining hours were pleasantly spent with Kensington and chat.

In two weeks Mrs. George Landis of Garfield avenue will be hostess when the ladies will gather at her home for luncheon. This meeting will be one of importance due to the fact that the election of officers for the ensuing year will be elected and the annual committees appointed.

DELPHIAN SOCIETY CALLS EXTRA MEETING

The Delphian Society held their regular meeting at The Castleton on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock with Mrs. S. M. Matheny in charge of the program.

The general topic, "The Clash of Aryan and Semite Civilization," occupied a greater part of the afternoon. Those taking part in the discussion were Mrs. A. M. Shumaker, Mrs. Luella Brownlee, Mrs. H. D. Harlan, Mrs. Will Moody, Mrs. T. J. McFate and Mrs. R. L. Boyd. Mrs. D. T. McCannagh gave a summary of all topics that proved quite interesting, bringing the event to a close.

There will be an extra meeting held at The Castleton Tuesday, Sept. 29, at two o'clock.

Colalucia-Marino

A pretty wedding was solemnized Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock when Miss Julia Colalucia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Colalucia of North Cedar street became the bride of Tony Marino of the Harbor road.

The ceremony was performed in the St. Vitus church with the Rev. Fr. DeMita officiating. The bride was attired in a gown of white and carried a bouquet of tea roses and valley lilies. Miss Anna Geinanno as maid of honor wore an orchid gown and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. Carmon Morell served as best man.

After a wedding dinner had been served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Colalucia, the young couple left for an extended visit to Niagara Falls and other places of interest.

W. W. M. G. Class.

The W. W. M. G. class of the Third United Presbyterian church held a marshmallow and wiener roast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Smock on the Butler road. Approximately 20 participated in this evening, which proved most entertaining. After the feature, the hours were spent informally with games and music.

W. I. T. Y. Club

Miss Mary Moorhead, Mrs. Charles Hanna and Mrs. Albert Collier were special guests at the meeting of the W. I. T. Y. club members when they met at the home of Mrs. Norman Collins on Mulberry street Tuesday evening. Three tables of 500 were enjoyed, with prizes being won by Mrs. Foster McEwen, Mrs. John Foreman and Mrs. Albert Collier. Dainty refreshments served by the hostess assisted by Miss Mary Moorhead, brought the gathering to a close until October 7 when Mrs. Foster McEwen will entertain in her home on North Ray street.

G. A. R. LADIES PLAN FOR DINNER

Members of the Ladies of the G. A. R. met in their hall Tuesday afternoon for the regular business meeting and matters of a routine nature were taken up. The next meeting, Tuesday, September 30, will be in the nature of an all day quilting, with each woman bringing her own lunch.

Plans were completed for a dinner at noon on October 7 at which time the Ladies of the G. A. R. from Ellwood City and New Brighton will be special guests. The committees in charge of the menu and kitchen will include Mrs. Rose Tripp, Mrs. Minnie Mayers, Mrs. Blanche Boston and Mrs. Martha Lock, while the dining room arrangements will be carried out by Mrs. Carrie Heltzman, Mrs. Daisy Mitchell, Mrs. Gleckner, Mrs. Zella George and Mrs. Jessie Maynes.

Missionary Meeting.

The Missionary class of the Bethany Lutheran church held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Thompson on Marshall avenue last evening with Mrs. Parkinson as the leader.

The evening's program opened with devotionals followed by their lesson "Intermission" when an interesting discussion period took place. During the business session Mrs. Oscar Woods, Mrs. Lee Whittaker and Mrs. John Ingham were chosen as delegates for the missionary convention which will convene at Kittanning on October 22 and 23. Plans were also completed for a Silver Tea on Wednesday, October 8, in the church parlors.

The next regular meeting of the class will be in the form of a tureen dinner at the church on Tuesday, October 28.

Silver Craft Club

Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Rudolph of Croton avenue delightfully entertained members of the Silver Craft club at their cottage near Volant Tuesday evening with a corn and wiener roast.

Crime Never Pays

FOOD IS PLENTIFUL

NO FOOD shortage will complicate the unemployment and entrenched-business situation this fall and winter, notwithstanding that they follow a summer of drought and devastating proportions.

It is noteworthy that as the autumn harvest season advances the markets are well supplied with fruits and vegetables of good quality. Another nation-wide survey reveals that in spite of the drouth there is as much food this year as ever.

The abundance of one area has counterbalanced the deficiencies in other sections. Early and late crops were good in the drought areas, and especially favorable conditions in eastern and southern truck growing territories made up for the unfavorable conditions that brought ruin to the Middle West and the Middle Atlantic states.

There is a shortage of late potatoes in 16 states and a surplus in 19. Shipments of fruits and vegetables are almost as large as last year, when people were buying more.

Droughts, even those general in effect, are not calamitous where adequate transportation facilities and versatility of production keep all section within safe distribution distance of sources of supply.

PROPOSING A NEW CABINET POSITION

Representative Ruth Bryan Owen's announcement that she proposes to introduce a bill at the next session of congress for the creation of a Department of Home and Child in the president's cabinet is sure to create a great deal of discussion.

The idea is to co-ordinate all the child and welfare activities now carried on by the government in the new department, which is to "promote and foster education, home and family life and child welfare."

The idea is that a woman cabinet member should head the organization, which would have authority to conduct experiments and surveys in health, hygiene, infancy and pre-natal care, education and training, neglect, dependency, delinquency, child labor, family housing and home economics. Mrs. Owen says home and child should be on "a parity of dignity" with agriculture, commerce and national defense.

We would go farther than the gifted congresswoman from Florida and say that they should be higher. Indeed, the home and the child should be placed far beyond middle-class governmental interferences maintains the Philadelphia Inquirer. Many of the state and city governments have welfare departments which are doing good work within prescribed limits; but it is a grave question whether we should have a horde of federal agents snooping around planning how the poor ought to live and arranging their lives for them. We have numerous social agencies doing good work in this field and doing it along sane and sensible lines. Between these non-official bodies and the state and city bureaus we have enough surveying and regulating. Mrs. Owen is right in urging the amalgamation of scattered governmental agencies dealing with these subjects, but it should not be carried to the extent of creating a new cabinet position.

When the first president of the United States assumed office he had authority to appoint five cabinet members, and they included the secretaries of state, treasury and war, the attorney general and the postmaster general. Since then we have added five more, the secretaries of the navy, interior, agriculture, commerce and labor. For a long time there has been an agitation for a secretary of education, and now comes this latest demand for a department of home and child in the cabinet.

There is no real need for either of them aside from the never-ending desire to create new jobs. And that is something the taxpayers will not relish at this time.

THIS MEANS WAR

Gangdom, flouting state and municipal authorities with obvious impunity, impudently challenges the federal government to war. Two courses are open. The United States government can accept the challenge and declare war and fight it to a finish or it can surrender abjectly and admit that it is beaten. Action taken within the next day or two ought to show which way the wind is blowing.

Last Tuesday federal agents raided a brewery in Elizabeth, N. J. The agents pulled the bungs from vats containing 225,000 gallons of beer, flooding the streets. Things in the beer racket dissolved a federal agent left to guard the plant. Yesterday federal agents raided the Rising Sun Brewery in the same city, were admitted after showing their search warrants, went through the plant, arresting the employees, and lined up their prisoners in the boiler room. A few minutes later twelve armed gangsters descended to the boiler room, disarmed the agents and shot down in cold blood another agent who, returning from an inspection of the building, entered the room while the rescue was in progress. John G. Fienello, the murdered man, was killed by eight bullet fired simultaneously from the guns of as many gangsters. He was forty-four years old. He leaves a wife and two young children.

The gangsters who control the beer industry have shown that they do not intend to be stopped by interference from the federal government. Not content with civil war among themselves, nor with defensive strategy that makes use of hush money and corruption and trivial fines as the ordinary overhead expense of the campaign, they have launched a bold offensive with powder and bullets, retiring as victors from the field of battle.

No incident in recent years so sharply draws the issue between government and anarchy. No government that is worthy of the name can afford to ignore such a challenge, or to let the matter slide. Let the endless debates between the advocates and the foes of moral experiments proceed, and let the people register their wishes at the polls. But clean out these rats of gangsters who flaunt their power by murder and thugery!

Wall Street was not happy Monday. The price list carried "minus" signs thicker than leaves in the forest "when autumn hath blown."

Cotton and wheat went to the lowest prices for 1930, and corporation earnings for the third quarter of the year are expected to be the worst thus far.

However, when it is very dark, you may expect the dawn. The man who has most to fear is the one most easily frightened.

Last Spring, you may have seen, here, an entire column devoted to the proposition that government buying of wheat would help men that were building rain elevators on speculation, would add the wheat to "carry over" and blocking the market for winter wheat, cause prices to fall.

This prediction, based on facts quite plain, has unfortunately come true. The price of wheat Monday was the lowest in 24 years.

Secretary Lamont, head of the Department of Commerce, finds a bright spot in the low prices of raw goods. Big industries, taking advantage of low prices, purchase great quantities of materials.

In August the increase in our exports was more than in customary in that month, and the gain in retail trade at present is more than the normal gain for this season.

Perhaps we really are more frightened than hurt.

FATHER THOUGHT

I would not at your laughter frown,
Nor try to cry your pleasure down;
Nor hint that mirth is wrong;
But as you laugh and as you dance,
Against life's every circumstance
I hope to have you strong.

This pleasure which you love so much
Will vanish at the slightest touch
Of shame or loss of pain.
When come life's sternest tests to you,
It will not stay to see you through
C at your side remain.

So fine the line twist wrong and right,
So great the coil of follies slight,
So true the line is strong.
That all who would outlast life's mirth
And end in peace their days on earth
Must bide their time.

Be happy every hour you can.
But play the wren and the man;
Hold fast to all that's best.
My prayer is this: When comes the strain
You will have courage for your pain
And strength for every test.

THE AUTOMATON

When you begin to think, the e is in 'him' new in your job and it is getting monotonous it is time to prod yourself a little up to its 'e' butler.

As soon as you lose interest you are inviting another to take your place.

Your firm can find a man who would like the job and find a chance for expansion in your environment.

Perhaps you have ceased to think in the right light.

To you it has become a place merely to make enough "a living."

Naturally, if this is all it is to you, you have become automatic.

How long is it since you had a original thought about your work?

It is many months, isn't it, since you expended any energy trying to meet its every demand?

Of course if you become mechanical you won't enjoy your work.

But you can't help it, if you were much elated that you had made some discovery in your line—different and new to your method of production.

If you put the same enthusiasm back of your efforts today you might get a lot more pleasure out of work and take it beyond the dead line of mere going back and forth move.

There is always a new and better way and up to you to find it before someone else gets your job and shows it a better man.

The ERIE DISPATCH-HERALD calls attention to the fact that "broad powers of discretion in the matter appear to be given the consuls. Certain preferred classes will not be interfered with by the order, but the general run of immigration will be materially reduced and the full possibilities of the instruction are applied. It is estimated that it will lower by half the arrivals that would be likely in the absence of such a regulation," concludes this journal. That America does not have today the "burden of hordes of newcomers" such as she had in the "days before restricted immigration" is pleasing to the OAKLAND TRIBUNE.

That the order has a humanitarian side also is pointed out by the WORCESTER EVENING GAZETTE, which says of prospective emigrants from other countries, "To protect them, as well as to protect ourselves, we ought to prevent their coming when we have no work to offer them." The CHICAGO DAILY NEWS sees the order as sensible and in no degree unfair to would-be immigrants of the desirable types. They retain their priority and will get their visas when normal business conditions of employment are restored in the United States," the News explains.

That "the country would not be doing any kindness to its prospective immigrants by letting them enter and swell the ranks of the unemployed," is the position taken by the KALAMAZOO GAZETTE, which considers that "special vigilance in the enforcement of this immigration rule seems to be well justified at the present time. While there is evidence that the economic depression in our country has just about 'touched bottom,' and that the turning point is already in view, recovery certainly would not be hastened by the admission of job seekers from the outside," continues the Gazette.

The opinion is expressed in some quarters that a permanent tightening of the immigration law should now be made. The PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN suggests that "admission should at all times be regulated by American labor conditions. In times of industrial depression there ought to be complete exclusion of all alien workers, save as come to fill places here for which sufficient home labor is not obtainable, and whose labor is of such a kind that it helps speed up home industry instead of bringing new competition into a crowded market," is a thought advanced by the Bulletin.

Discussing the selective immigration views of Secretary Davis as "common sense guesses," the PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE classifies the present order as "in the direction" and goes on to say that "Mr. Davis would have the genius of any industrial key man admitted at once. That is simply the logical application of the principle of selection," this paper avers. The SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE believes that "if unemployment is not materially lessened in the near future, a drastic order may be anticipated."

Some editors advise the deportation at this time of all aliens unlawfully in the country. "In our years of prosperity we made the mistake of importing too many laborers, and now that there is a scarcity of work, we are finding that we must pay for that mistake," says the ABILENE DAILY REPORTER. Coincidentally with the present restriction on immigration, the SPRINGFIELD UNION thinks the government might well pursue its course of rounding up plainly undesirable aliens and shipping them back to the country from which they came." The POCATELLO TRIBUNE says: "We have little faith in immigration restriction but we do believe in selection."

"Something is afoot in a country offering unlimited opportunity for more employment that is bothered with a problem of unemployment," exclaims the MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL. The new policy is described by the ST. PAUL PIONEER PRESS as "well enough so far as it goes, but if left standing by itself, without other and really effective measures," continues the St. Paul paper, "it might do more harm than good. In the past, when the business cycle turned and depression began, the condition has been left pretty much to work out in its own way, according to the forces of economics, like a disease running its course. Almost all elements in the economic system have taken their deflation and then, when the ground has been 'completely cleared' of inflated factors and the bottom reached, business attains a new healthy state of adjustment and begins its upward climb. This is a brutal process, as the survivors of 1893 can attest, or even the farmers who went through deflation in 1921, and the brutality will probably always be to some extent present until fluctuations of business are entirely eliminated in some future millennium."

"Ole Hess" is an institution in Richmond. It is the salvage warehouse of the Chesapeake & Ohio R.R. way and was originally known as "Ole House." It contains about everything under the sun. At present it has on hand automobiles, plumbing supplies, men's and women's clothing, canned goods, cigarettes, fence gates, various items of furniture, and a hundred other things.

The function of the warehouse is to reduce the loss of damage claims, and everything which is damaged en route to such an extent that it is undeliverable is sent to "Ole Hess." There it is repaired by men who are hired to put into "sab" shape anything that is given to them.

At intervals of a two-day auction takes place, and accumulations are sold. These are announced in the local papers and a list of the articles to be offered for sale are sent out to a regular mailing list.

Daily Editorial Digest

Synopsis of Editorial Views By Newspapers of Nation on Important Subjects as Edited by Consolidated Press Association

Order To Check Immigration Proves To Be Popular Move

Country Believes That Selective Method Will Contribute To The Better Labor Conditions And May Point Way To Permanent Policy Which Will Be Beneficial

That President Hoover has taken a sensible and helpful attitude in his suggestion to American consuls abroad to restrict visas to immigrants under the quota who give ample proof that they will not become public charges seems to be the consensus of American newspaper opinion. The president is declared to have made a popular move toward one form of assistance in the country's unemployment problem.

"Curtalement of immigration, while it won't make jobs for jobless Americans, will at least avert distresses resulting from a multiplication of applicants for such jobs as are to be had," says the NEW ORLEANS ITEM, and the HARTFORD DAILY COURANT remarks: "In ordering the consular offices of the United States in every part of the world to refuse visas to applicants who have no employment in prospect here, President Hoover has made a gesture that will be popular. How effective it will prove in ameliorating conditions remains to be seen," concludes this paper. "Logical enough, too," exclaims the RUTLAND DAILY HERALD, which reasons that "if there are not jobs enough for American citizens there are not jobs enough for alien newcomers."

Explaining the legality of the action that has been taken, the NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICTURE says: "Discovery of what might be termed a 'flexible clause' in the immigration law, to permit this tightening up, is credited to the state department, which conducted its search therefor at the president's request. Authority for the more drastic restriction, it is explained, is found in, or interpreted into, that provision of the law requiring the exclusion of immigrants who, if admitted, would be likely to become public charges." As the WALLA WALLA DAILY BULLETIN puts it: "The president's new order will mean that close watch is to be kept at European ports and on both the Canadian and Mexican borders. Just now, we need exactly what the president has ordered. His latest move ought to give definite and lasting assistance."

The ERIE DISPATCH-HERALD calls attention to the fact that "broad powers of discretion in the matter appear to be given the consuls. Certain preferred classes will not be interfered with by the order, but the general run of immigration will be materially reduced and the full possibilities of the instruction are applied. Able Addresses Heard At Synod

Afternoon And Evening Sessions Of U. P. Synod

NEW YORK PASTOR IS CHIEF SPEAKER

Many Pastors Share In Program—Arrangements Well Taken Care Of

The twenty-third annual session of the Synod of the West continued the three-day conference Tuesday with the afternoon session opening at 1:30. The theme of the afternoon being, "The Presence of the Holy Spirit," the devotional service being conducted by Rev. M. P. Smith of Alpuerto. He took his text from John 14: 16-17, "And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he abode with you forever. Even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him, out of whom he shall be in you." Following his discourse on this scripture extract a period was devoted to the business of the synod when reports were presented from the various presbyteries.

Dr. Butterick Speaks
Rev. George A. Butterick, D. D. of the Madison Avenue church, New York City, then addressed the assembly, using for his theme "An Argument for the Existence of God," which was in fact a review of the book, "Preface to Mora," by Walter Lippman, which showed the weakness of the humanist's position in the world. This review led to the statement the Experience is the strongest argument for the existence of God, we just know He exists, although we cannot explain it, just as a father knows he loves his child but just cannot explain the mystery of the love; the experience of it is the proof, so it is with Christ and man.

Rev. Don F. Montgomery of Youngstown presided at the evangelistic conference which followed and inspiring exhortations were offered by Rev. S. E. Irvine, D. D., pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of this city on "Dependence Upon the Holy Spirit." Rev. J. C. Smith, D. D. of Warren, Ohio spoke on "The Sensitiveness of the Holy Spirit" and Rev. S. C. Gamble of Butler took up "The Obedience to the Holy Spirit," each giving a most eloquent and attention-arresting address on the subject assigned to him.

A period of recess was then held for committee meetings, which were held in various departments of the church after which Rev. John McNaugher, D. D., L. L. D. of Pittsburgh, president of the Pittsburgh-Knox-Seminary gave a report of the seminary and the board of education. Business of a routine nature then followed until time for adjournment.

Evening Session
Following dinner, which was served in the dining room by the ladies of the church, the evening session convened with the auditorium of the church filled.

Rev. W. J. H. McKnight of Kenmore church, Buffalo, N. Y., led the devotional period for this session taking up the theme of the session "The People of the Holy Spirit" using as his text Act. 5: 32: "And we are His witnesses of these things; and so is also the Holy Ghost, whom God hath given to them that obey Him." He said we Christians have little difficulty in being persuaded into believing the Holy Spirit and knowing the power of it and we have little doubt of the other phases of the Holy Spirit but it is interesting to know the people of the Holy Spirit and we like to think of the people prepared to receive the Holy Spirit rather than those who have already received it. We look about and see the beauty of the flowers that fill the pulpit, we see the lights that shine down upon us, but we do not think about the baskets which hold these bouquets in place nor of the copper wires that supply the lights, these parts are not so interesting, but they are essential; so it is with the Holy Spirit, there would be none if there were no people to receive it and it is a glorious thing that God has chosen people to reveal the Holy Spirit, to know the sacredness, the dignity and honor the infinite God has manifested in putting the Holy Spirit into these bodies of ours. It is through ordinary men that God chooses to show the power of the Holy Spirit, as he chose the disciples from the ordinary walks of life while he was upon earth.

Address of Evening
Dr. C. J. Williamson, host pastor, took the opportunity at this time to ask that the courtesies of Synod be extended to the visiting ministers of various churches of New Castle; Dr. W. E. McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church; Dr. C. B. Wingerd, pastor of Central Presbyterian church; Rev. D. C. Schnebly, pastor of Mahoning Presbyterian church; Dr. E. A. Crooks, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church; Rev. J. S. Stewart, a retired minister of this city, and Dr. C. G. Farr, district superintendent of the Erie conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Following an anthem by the choir Dr. Butterick, for the third time Tuesday, addressed the audience, which was made up of ministers, laymen and people of New Castle.

Dr. Butterick said: "To inquire concerning the deepest functions of the church one must go back to the

Prison Picture Is Big Sensation At Local Playhouse

Drama That Was Turned Down By Ohio Censors Creates Vast Discussion

"The Big House" playing at the Capitol this week is thrilling the large audiences with its engrossing study of prison conditions. Prison, it's grim brutality, it's riots, it's thrills and it's heartbreaks, are shown with stark realism and utter fidelity in this amazing drama of penitentiary revolt.

It bares underlying causes of prison riots, shows one in which a thousand men participate and follows through three prisoners, one a gangster, one a forger, who finds redemption in the melee, one a new offender whose soul is wrecked by association with hardened criminals.

Chester Morris, Wallace Beery and Robert Montgomery play these central characters, about whom the story revolves, and give splendid characterizations. The love interest is between Morris as the forger and Lela Hyams, and the friendship of Morris and Beery, who plays a vicious killer, is vividly worked out.

Actual machine gun fire was recorded for the first time by a new discovery. The jail yard riot, with a thousand men scattering under gun fire, the thrilling riot in the mess hall, and the dramatic end of the riot, when army tanks quell the revolt, are shown on a huge scale. The intimate touches were directed with deft skill by Hill. The dialog is specially forceful and realistic with its prison jargon and criminal argot giving it a vivid actuality.

root question, "Why is the church and what is the use of it?" Some claim the use of the church in a community is to safeguard its property and preserve order in the community; the church in a district keeps up the property value and lawlessness would become chaos if the church were taken away; the church is not a property value builder, nor is it a mere adjunct to the police court; this is a demeaning aspect; some uphold the church as a guarantee of better business, making Jesus a lackey of economic order; others take the opinion that the church is merely a crutch for weak knees, a meeting place for timid women and effeminate men; yes, the church is a place of comfort and cheer, but it is not bradled in comfort but in martyrdom, which is shown by the heroic deaths of martyrs in the past.

Some maintain the church is just a cradle of the past, a place of superstition; yes, there are superstitions in religion that die a hard death. Religion believes in a harmony alive and in touch with human beings, a church built on Jesus, on whom no cloud hangs.

Take the churches in far away communities or that originated in small gatherings where the Holy Spirit was invoked upon the gathering, where the founders went through every hardship and form of martyrdom to establish their churches, which in many cases have developed into some of the most prominent churches in our country, these were not based on boosting property value, nor aiding the police departments, nor on relics of the past and superstition; they were built from a hunger for God.

It is the hunger for God that builds up a church; the form of the church changes often, but the church will not disappear from the earth as long as there is the hunger for God in the soul of man; we look up to the Holy Spirit for deliverance, for purity, for righteousness, for beauty, for truth and for companionship and the church exists because we were born with a God instinct and the church is here because people hunger with a sense of the eternal.

The deeper foundation leads us to God as a home in our loneliness; life itself calls to us and if the eggshell surface of the church cracks we shall be thrown into oblivion. The church is not only a plastic machine, a penitentiary in which we are jailed, a school in which we are trained, but it is "Our Father's House," as Jesus called it.

No other institution on the face of the earth can fill the place of the church, nothing else can be our strength in the conflict of motives and nothing can supply the wholeness and quietness of spirit that can be found in the church and the Holy Spirit. The church gives us God as the nucleus of human brotherhood; it forms the cement that shall link every person together; it is the only institution that goes down to the common denominator of human life—Jesus Christ; it is the only place where men can say, "We are all one here."

The church proclaims redeeming grace and divine forgiveness and where can we find one pure enough to pay the sacrificial price but in God himself.

Committees Work Well

The workings of the Synod have passed on in a smooth way, without a hitch, and much of this is due to the hard work of the committees of the host church in arranging everything for the convenience of the guests. The Baldwin Bible class, of which Mrs. Ray Rhodes is president, kept the church beautifully decorated with palms and flowers throughout the sessions; Mrs. J. W. McCreary and her efficient committee changed the junior Sabbath school room into a lounging room for the convenience of the guests and more comforts and conveniences could not be found in their own homes than were provided in the easy chairs, the chaise longue, the cot for reclining and the well placed lamps, with all daily papers at hand, the prayer rooms, where seclusion and quiet could be had for solitary prayer periods and meditation.

The assignment of delegates was handled in an efficient, orderly manner by Mrs. Gayl Blum, Mrs. C. H. Milholland and Mrs. Ray Rhodes; while the transportation was looked after by W. J. Offutt, T. A. Gilkey and John F. Haven; members of the young people's society attended to the registration of delegates; Mrs. John Wallace and her crew of excellent helpers saw to it that the meals were prepared and served at suitable hours, and Mrs. H. S. Kison was chairman of the publicity committee.

other interesting animals, a red howler monkey.

Why should a monkey be red, why should he howl? Was he made that way originally to amuse Adam and Eve? A red howling monkey must have been a welcome entertainment for a couple that had no movies, radio, talking machines or miniature golf links.

Science says natural selection decided the monkey's color. The red made him hard to see among the tropical flowers. And he learned to howl, more and more wildly, as he discovered the howling kept away animals that would eat him.

Mr. Cyrus H. K. Curtis, who interests himself in everything from Peking to Peru and all around back to Philadelphia, discovers that the American prize fighting business is "a racket." He discovers ex-convicts "owning," controlling and exploiting the best known fighters. They "fix" the prize fights, and organize fairs, when that seems desirable.

However, why argue about prize fighting and its rackets?

Prize fighting is in a class with bull baiting, badger drawing, dog and cock fighting, only worse, and should go to join the others.

In the career of Henry Phipps, who died Monday, 91 years old, there is a moral for millions of young men. A great majority will not be interested in the moral, but here it is.

More than seventy years ago, Henry Phipps, young clerk in a hardware store in Ohio, sold powder to coal miners, other things to other people.

And when his work was done, he walked eight miles there and eight miles back to keep books for a blacksmith and iron worker unable to keep accounts.

That blacksmith, with Carnegie and Phipps, went into the steel business. They prospered.

Phipps, undoubtedly, had business genius, as had Carnegie.

But, if Phipps had not been willing to walk eight miles there and back, to earn a few extra dollars a month, and get ahead in the world, he wouldn't have gone into business with Carnegie, and he would not now be leaving many millions to his children.

Mr. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, says Russians do not tell the truth about their short wheat selling, that they sold twice as much as they admit selling.

Instead of selling 2,000,000 bushels, according to the secretary, they have sold 10,000,000 bushels.

It is wrong for Russian Communists to come to our great country and do what American citizens do every day, selling short or speculating for a rise in life's necessities.

But, even if Russia has sold 10,000,000 bushels of wheat in eight or nine months, that would not make much difference considering that the Chicago Board of Trade alone sells and buys fifty to sixty million bushels daily.

More important than Russia's wickedness is the fact of speculating in life's necessities.

If you speculate to increase the cost of bread in France, they put you in jail at hard labor. And they really put you in jail, they do not merely talk about it.

Gasoline prices are cut in Britain and Holland. Prices that automobile owners pay in Europe add one to your million reasons for being glad you live in America.

In Holland, as in France, they sell gasoline by the quart, not by the gallon. The price in Holland is now out to 16 cents a quart. Imagine paying that.

No wonder Sir Henri Deterding, boss of the Big Dutch Oil Company, can afford to fight American oil men on their home grounds.

Denies Youngstown Is "Closest To Hell"

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 24.—Rev. DuBois Le Veve in the First Unitarian church Sunday answered Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, noted New York preacher, who is quoted as having said, "Youngstown is the closest to hell that I ever want to be."

In his sermon Mr. Le Veve said: "No clear-minded citizen will deny that our city has its belch aspects. But what no patriotic Youngstowner will ever admit is that we are a lost community. Our bells are the inevitable result of the very things we prize most. Our rapid growth and our expanding industrialism are responsible for our dirt and ugliness, but every enterprising person would rather live in a town that is in the making than to hibernate in a lovely quiet village where everything is perfect but dead."

WATCH THE FIRE
Judge (in case of an illicit still after charging jury)—"Is there any question that anyone would like to ask before considering the evidence?"

Juror—"A couple of us would like to know if the defendant boiled the mail one or two hours, and how does he keep the yeast out?"—Carolina Buccanier.

"The few have and the many haven't," cried the Reds. "We demand equality." So now nobody has.

Northwestern Council To Meet At Saegerstown

Fall Reunion Of United States War Veterans And Auxiliaries Sunday

There will be a meeting and fall reunion of the Northwestern Auxiliary council on Sunday, September 28, at "The Inn" Saegerstown, Pa. A special dinner will be served from 12 to 2 p. m. and the business meetings will follow. This will be a particularly important meeting for the Auxiliary council as officers to be elected and all Auxiliaries are expected to be fully represented.

Much of interest to both the member camps and auxiliaries will be taken up at this meeting.

In order to give the management an idea of how many to prepare for all members of the camps and auxiliaries who will attend are asked to notify the adjutant of Daniel Leasure Camp 24, or Mrs. Edna M. Vaughan, president of Daniel Leasure Auxiliary 52, before Thursday.

A Harmless Prescription, but How it Moves the bowels!

DON'T you want this way of making the bowels behave? A doctor's way to make the bowels move so well that you feel better all over! Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin doesn't turn everything to water, but cleans out all that hard waste clogging your system. It cleans you out without any shock, for it's only fresh laxative herbs—a famous doctor found so good for the bowels combined with pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients.

A doctor should know what is best for the bowels. Let Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin show you how soon you can train the bowels to move freely, every day, the way they should. It's wonderful the way this prescription works, but it's perfectly harmless, so you can use it whenever a coated tongue or sick headache gives warning that you are bilious. Fine for children, too (it tastes so nice) and they ought to have a spoonful the minute they seem fretful, feverish, or sluggish, or become stuffed up with a cold.

You can get the original prescription Dr. Caldwell wrote so many years ago; your druggist keeps it all ready in big bottles. Just ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and use it any time anyone in the family is constipated.

Judge Health Of Baby By Its Weight Record

By LOGAN CLENDENING M. D.

Weight is the most important single thing to know about the baby. Its general state of health is better judged by it than by anything else.

Of course when an acute condition arises, such as diarrhea or other forms of indigestion or fever or convulsions, these symptoms temporarily become of paramount importance.

But even so, when the acute condition is all over the final weight of the baby is the measure of the amount of damage the acute sickness has done.

In general, a healthy baby is one that is steadily gaining weight.

In general, an adequate infant diet is one on which the baby is gaining weight.

Dr. V. McKim Marriott is one of the most brilliant of American children specialists. I am greatly indebted to his recent clearly written book on "Infant Nutrition."

"The chief cause of failure in infant feeding," according to Dr. Marriott, "is lack of sufficient food of good nutritive value."

Normal babies born at full term weigh on the average of 7 1/4 pounds. Boys are usually slightly heavier than girls.

When properly fed a baby should double its weight at the end of five months, and triple it at the end of a year. At the end of a year a seven-pound baby should weigh 21 pounds, and at the end of the second year should weigh 28 pounds.

It is at all odds the life span of the most rapid increase in weight and growth. At no later period in life of equal duration does the weight increase so rapidly.

The food must, therefore, contain a larger amount of the elements of growth than at any later period.

Not only that, but the rate at which a baby's nutrition is carried on is much higher than an adult's. At rest baby's energy exchange is twice as high per pound of body weight as an adult's. But a baby is by no means always at rest. Vigorous crying will temporarily increase the rate of energy exchange over 100 per cent.

So in calculating for a baby's diet requirements we must allow for not only nutritional needs at rest, but growth, and for the more rapid energy exchange of infancy.

We must also allow for increased food, or unassimilated food. The whole calculation amounts to the infant to nearly four times as many calories in its food per pound as the adult requires.

Flying Doctor Is Airport Visitor

Dr. Fuzzy Of Youngstown
Swoops Down On Bradford
Field; Well Known Here

The flying doctor of Youngstown came to Bradford field Tuesday to pay another visit in the local district.

Dr. P. J. Fuzzy of Youngstown is known throughout the district as the flying doctor because of his numerous flights. Flying is one of the physician's hobbies. Local airmen believe the doctor could make flights for patients if the occasion demanded.

Dr. Fuzzy received his instructions in flying under the able tutelage of Maj. J. O. Bolanz of Landsdowne field Youngstown. A practicing physician he is a familiar figure at many airports. He has arrived here many times and made is well known in New Castle.

Mt. Jackson Notes

Miss Dorothy Dennis spent the week-end with friends at Ellwood City.

Mrs. W. O. Taylor and Miss Agnes Davidson were callers on New Castle Saturday evening.

Chester Shearer was confined to the Youngstown hospital where he underwent a tonsil operation.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Caskey and daughter Willa visited with Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Greer of New Galilee Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ferguson of Niles visited the former's mother, Mrs. Sarah Ferguson, Sunday.

Mrs. A. T. Lawrence of Indianapolis, Ind., visited with Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Cowden Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hayes and family of New Wilmington spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Olson.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ball and Mrs. Adrian Schultz attended the funeral of John Mitchell of Pulaski Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Emery and family of near Bessemer called on the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Emery, Sunday.

FRESHMEN GIVEN STRICT RULES TO OBEY, AT CHAPEL

Westminster Yearlings Have Regulations Read By Upper Class Group

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 24.—Following the regular chapel service at Westminster college this morning, members of the freshman class were read the rules and regulations which will govern their dress, activities, conduct, and habits for the next few months.

The Upper Class committee in conference with a special committee of the faculty devised the new set of regulations governing both the men and women members of this year's entering class. The rules go into effect on Saturday afternoon of this week at 1 o'clock, just an hour and one-half before the kick-off of the Edinboro-Westminster football game. James, Mayer, Rutherford, N. J., chairman of the committee, had as his assistants Gretchen Turner, Cambridge Springs; Gibson Armstrong, Dormont; Florence Groh, Cleveland, O.; and Robert Weingartner, New Castle.

The rules read, in part: Beginning at 1 o'clock Saturday, September 27, all freshmen shall observe the following rules and regulations:

1. You shall attend every pep meeting, cheer practice, and college function.
2. Do not fail to say "hello" to everyone. Fresh always speak first.
3. You are not permitted to use the Memorial Terrace until May Day eve.
4. You are not permitted to leave your place in chapel until the three upper classes have departed.
5. You are not permitted to cultivate mustaches nor to wear ear rings.
6. You will carry your Fresh handbook at all times.
7. You will not wear any preparatory insignia at any time.
8. You should use the East Entrance to Old Main Memorial.
9. No more than two Fresh may walk side by side.
10. There will be no co-education at home football games. You will sit in one cheering section and remain until the game is over.
11. On October 1 you will wear slickers or raincoats and galoshes. The girls will carry black umbrellas open on the street. Boys will carry large cards, about 6x12 inches, with names printed thereon.

Regulations Applying Specifically to the Girls Are:

1. You will wear berets from September 27 until May Day Eve.
2. For one week, beginning October 13, you are not permitted to date.
3. For the duration of the football season, you shall wear white cotton stockings and oxford or Cuban-heeled shoes. No "spikes".
4. From September 27 until October 18 you shall wear your hair in two braids and refrain from using cosmetics.

Regulations Applying to Freshman Men:

1. You will wear "dinks" from September 27 until May Day Eve.
2. On the campus or the street you will greet all professors with a military salute.
3. You will carry matches at all times.
4. For one week, beginning October 6, you are not permitted to date.
5. You are prohibited from smoking on the streets surrounding the campus or on the athletic field.
6. For the duration of football season you shall wear blue Windsor ties, wing collars, and white socks.
7. You shall wear coats at all times and have them buttoned.
8. You are not permitted to have your hands in your pockets.

The committee, in explaining the rules to the freshmen this morning, announced that all rules and regulations will be removed each week from 6 o'clock on Saturday evening until 7 o'clock Monday morning.

Deputy Constable To Act For Reese

Court Appoints Officer For Neshannock Township On Tuesday

Because of the fact that Constable William G. Reese, is still unfit for duty, the residents of Neshannock township thought it wise to ask for the appointment of a deputy constable. Acting upon that theory, a petition was presented by Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand and late Tuesday afternoon he appointed Elmer A. Krutz. Constable Reese was in court at the time and stated that he approved of the appointment, as it would be some time before he could function again.

Mr. Krutz was sworn in by Prothonotary Ralph M. Campbell, and immediately started in upon his duties. His first arrest was that of Dominick Derello, charged with refusal to pay taxes. He took Derello before Squire A. H. Gilmore where Derello paid his taxes. Squire Gilmore stated that there were many more cases of delinquency which would be pressed, and those refusing to pay their taxes would be sent to jail.

Will Confer With President Hoover On Wheat Prices

Chicago Committee On Way To Washington To See President

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—New low prices for wheat were recorded on the Chicago Board of Trade today as brokers in a near panic unloaded their holdings.

The price of wheat sank in the first two hours of trading to the lowest in 24 years.

As the market continued to tumble, three prominent Chicagoans left for Washington for what was understood to be a conference with President Hoover on the wheat situation. They are Attorney Silas H. Strawn, Siebel C. Harris and Peter E. Carey.

Harris and Carey are big men on the Chicago board while Strawn, a former president of the American Bar Association.

Coincident with the departure of Strawn and his party, M. S. Winder, executive secretary of the American Farm Bureau Federation, announced that Russian Communistic activities threatening the welfare of the American farmer would be given the immediate attention of the federation.

The break in the wheat market here was caused directly by the weakness in the world's markets and the further heavy offerings of Russian wheat abroad.

Shortly before noon September wheat sold as low as 77 cents a bushel against a previous low of 77 7/8 cents. December wheat sold at 81 3/8 cents compared with the previous low of 82 1/4 while March plunged to 84 compared 85 3/4 the low mark of yesterday. May wheat went to 87 1/2 compared with 88 5/8 of yesterday.

Other grains were also weak with all deliveries of oats and rye at new lows for the season.

High Ceremony Of J.O.U.A.M. May Be Performed In City

Orphans Home Degree Event Will Attract Scores To City From Councils

A plan to participate in the local Armistice Day celebration is being discussed by officials of Castle Council No. 365, Junior Order of United American Mechanics.

According to R. D. Snyder, past councillor, the local unit of the order may bring a group of 67 boys, between the ages of 14 to 18 and a boys band of 50 pieces from the organization's orphan's home located at Tiffin, O.

The groups, officials say, may be brought to New Castle for the order's Orphan's Home Degree ceremony, at which degrees of the order are conferred.

In order to assure the ceremony being held here, Snyder said that 100 members of councils in the district must signify their intent to participate. The local council will make the bid for the ceremony and will communicate with councils in Youngstown, Butler, Beaver Falls, New Brighton, Ambridge, Greenville and Sharon.

ONE COAT OF PAINT GIVEN. New Castle free public library has received one coat of brown paint and in the next day or so workmen will commence to give it a second coat. The window sills, etc., will be painted black.

Street Cars Fail To Yield Usual Quota Of Umbrellas

When summer drought makes its presence known and felt the trolley car men find that fewer umbrellas are forgotten by the riders.

This is the conclusion of C. V. Mack, superintendent of the South Beaver street car barns of the Penn-Ohio system, who is an authority on the objects that are left in the street cars in this city. Books and purses are the next objects that are left behind, Mack says.

This summer the street car men found a shortage of umbrellas, a fact which they attribute to the unusual dry spell.

Lost property of riders is taken to the car dispatcher and may be claimed by owners within 30 days.

For nearly six months trolleys have failed to yield any valuable belongings. The last find which may be regarded significant was reported by an interurban car motorman who discovered a purse with several hundreds of dollars. However, Mack repeated, the summer this year has failed to yield its regular quota of umbrellas.

Window pits are often the most fruitful places for lost objects. Students' pencils and books have been retrieved from the deep hiding places at the sides of cars.

Congress May Pass Legislation Banning Short Grain Sales

Present Controversy With Soviet Russia May Lead To Strict Legislation

Would Place Embargoes On Certain Russian Imports To United States

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The present controversy over the activities of Soviet Russia in the Chicago grain market, it appeared today, will result in determined efforts in the next congress to outlaw all grain speculation and to place embargoes on certain Russian imports to America.

The action of a Soviet agency in selling American wheat "short" in the Chicago market will be used, first, to spur enactment of the Caraway bill, prohibiting short sales in grains. Leaders of the western "farm bloc" feel the Soviet incident gave impetus to their campaign for enactment of this legislation.

Embargo Bill Planned
On the other hand, Senator Eddie (R) of Nevada, has announced he will offer a bill, placing an embargo on imports of Russian manganese, coal, lumber, woodpulp, gelatin, glue and wheat. He added that he would favor a provision, if it were deemed necessary, forbidding the Soviet government from dealing directly or indirectly in any of the grain exchanges in this country.

The pending inquiry by the house anti-red committee may lead to further legislation. Thus far, Rep. Hamilton, Jr. (R) of New York, its chairman, has not indicated what legislative steps will be recommended to the house as a result of that inquiry into communist activities in America.

The committee report will not be drawn until after the inquiry is concluded into the Soviet wheat transaction.

Senator Caraway (D) of Arkansas, who drafted the bill outlawing gambling in grains, announced he did not look upon the Soviet transactions as particularly important. He said the Soviet "shortsales"—that is, sale of wheat not actually possessed, for future delivery—were but a slight fraction of the total short sales, negotiated daily in the grain markets. He added that the way farmers could be protected against grain speculators would be by prohibiting all short sales.

Would Outlaw Short Sales
Senator Brookhart (R) of Iowa, who has introduced a bill outlawing short sales in the stock markets, said he expected the Soviet dealings would aid in enacting the Caraway bill.

"It seems perfectly foolish to get excited over the Soviet transactions, since every other wheat gambler, including the federal farm board itself, has been doing the same thing," said Brookhart. "The Soviets, I understand, sold about 7,000,000 bushels short in four successive days. When the total short sales were over 2,000,000,000 bushels. The Soviet dealings were but a drop in the bucket."

"The real remedy is not to punish the Soviets but to prohibit grain speculation and gambling in the prices of farm products. The Caraway bill provides the real remedy. I believe now there is a real chance to pass that bill. The Bolsheviks apparently have done the American farmer some good by improving the chances for enactment of this highly necessary legislation."

Lumberman Aroused
While wheat has held the foreground, the National Lumber Manufacturers Association is just as agitated over Russian imports of lumber and woodpulp. The lumbermen have asked the treasury department to bar such imports on the ground that convict labor is used in their production. Some time ago, the treasury did bar a few Russian shipments of lumber on this ground only to reverse itself later.

When Eddie sponsors his bill, placing embargoes on Russian lumber and wheat as well as his favorite manganese, the whole subject will be debated in congress. By having grouped a number of articles, Eddie may succeed in securing its enactment.

HILLSVILLE
FAREWELL PARTY
Friends and neighbors of Rev. and Mrs. Woodin, who left this week for their new home at Luthersburg, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gilmore Monday evening and tendered them a farewell in surprise fashion. The home was beautifully decorated in dahlias and gladioli. When the honor guests arrived they were showered with a number of jack-pots, and a number of short speeches were given by different guests, all expressing their high esteem for Rev. and Mrs. Woodin and their regret at their leaving Hillsville. Games and music furnished the diversions for the latter part of the evening and at a later hour the hostess, assisted by Miss Catherine Purse served a delicious lunch.

HILLSVILLE NOTES

At the Age Women Dread

"Three years ago I was in bed three months with a nervous breakdown. After that I had to lie down often. I have four children, the youngest 21, and I board two little school-girls. I try to keep my home as a mother should but I am at the age so many women dread. Since taking six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I feel 100% stronger. I am not so nervous and my appetite is better."—Mrs. Della Hutsell, 623 East 1st Street, Casper, Wyoming.

Legion Election On Voting Machine

Election Is Conducted In Short Order By Use Of Machine

Members of the American Legion, Perry S. Gaston Post No. 343, saw for themselves how the voting machine works when on Tuesday evening, the election of the commander and other officers was consummated with the voting machine. A machine was installed in the assembly room and in less than fifteen minutes, 69 votes had been cast and the results announced.

County Commissioner Harry Gibson of Mercer county was present and spoke on the merits of the voting machine. He said that there had been a time when he had been other than friendly to the idea, but that now Mercer County has the voting machines, he is ardently for them. With Commissioner Gibson were Peter J. Whalen, and John De Capua, Legionnaires, from Mercer county. They also spoke of the merits of the voting machine.

It was the first election ever held by means of a voting machine in the Legion Home and following the results, the members were interested in examining it and asking questions.

Class Officers Are Named At Shenango

Final Student Election Occurs At Suburban Building On Tuesday

At an election held Tuesday the last of the 1930-31 officers for the Shenango Township high school classes were named. Several had chosen their leaders at earlier elections, and the faculty supervisors of each had been designated shortly after the term began.

The class balloting resulted as follows:
Seniors—President, Earl Collins; vice president, Clifford Robinson; secretary, Virginia McConahy, and treasurer, Martha Swisher. Miss Margaret Cowmeadow is the supervisor.

Juniors—President, Julia McDaniels; vice president, Clara Lytle; secretary, Eleanor Shaffer, and treasurer, Helen Hanna. Miss Katherine Alcorn is the supervisor.

Sophomores—President, Gula Robinson; vice president, John Ploenick; secretary, Alana Lepisto, and treasurer, Pauline Myers. Miss Mary Eva Craig is the supervisor.

Freshman—President, Fred Wilkinson; vice president, Georgia Boother; secretary, Margaret Bake, and treasurer, Francis Clark. Miss Elva McCasland is the supervisor.

Greater Troop F Project Outlined

New Castle Lions Club Given Unit Extension Plan For

The carefully analyzed plan of an interested group of New Castle citizens for a greater Troop F organization here, as conceived by that civilian body following a thorough research of national guard troop operations in the state at large, was submitted for the New Castle Lions Club approval when Louis B. Round, chairman of the citizen's group spoke at the club's noon meeting Tuesday.

On Monday the Rotary club was informed of the committee's plan to revise the present troop. It is the idea of the committee to make the troop a organization semi-military one.

In other appearances Mr. Round will probably acquaint other civic groups with the proposal. Endorsements of the project have been made by the local Chamber of Commerce and other organizations.

Major W. Fulton Jackson, another interested member of the committee, spoke briefly today and then introduced Mr. Round.

Wampum Cement Plant Boosts River Project

Would Develop 300,000 Tons Of Material To Be Moved By River Route

ELLWOOD CITY WOULD ALSO CONTRIBUTE MUCH

Pittsburgh Firms State Canalization Would Increase Their Sales

One of the enthusiastic supporters of slack water navigation on the Beaver River is The Crescent Portland Cement Company at Wampum, Pa., which is some 12 or 13 miles from the Ohio River. This plant is capable of producing a million and a half barrels of Portland Cement a year, which would probably represent a productive value of three million dollars and a total annual tonnage of 300,000 tons that could be moved on the river at advantage to both the company and its consumers.

In Ellwood City, Pa., situated on the Connoquessing River, which is only a few miles from the Beaver, waterway enthusiasts assert that it is possible to develop, through the annual consumption of coal and coke, as well as shipments adapted both to inbound and outbound transportation by water of raw materials and finished products, more than a million tons. It is probable that only one dam would be necessary to provide slack water navigation to this thriving community.

Warren, Ohio, the northern objective on the Mahoning river, has ascertained that its manufacturing plants, with a payroll in excess of twenty million dollars, would contribute another three and three-quarter million tons for river haulage.

Productive District
Sharpsville and Greenville, in Pennsylvania, the northern objectives on the Shenango, would probably originate in excess of a million tons per year. Sharon and Farrell, Pa., also on the Shenango river, exclusive of the inter-plant traffic of the United States Steel Corporation, indicate the probability of developing for water haul, annually, another million and a half tons of coal, coke, limestone, raw materials and finished products. In the six counties, three in Western Pennsylvania and three in Eastern Ohio which would reap the benefit of dual transportation facilities if river navigation is finally provided through expenditure by the National Government, it is found that 75 per cent of the total number of wage earners are employed in the iron, steel and metal products businesses. In 1928, from these six counties there were filed 36,627 individual income tax returns.

Consideration has never been given by Army Engineers to the economic advisability of waterway transportation on the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango rivers, and examination and survey of the existing river channels has been authorized in the Rivers and Harbors Bill of 1930.

Since the Interstate Commerce Commission has declined to allow the construction of a short line railroad into the Youngstown area, every effort is being put forth to secure the extension of a 9-ft. channel from the Ohio river into this territory. A preliminary survey of the possibility of tonnage origination which would utilize the existing river channels if slack watered, indicates that the cost would be easily justified.

Endorse Improvement
H. S. Warwick, Assistant Treasurer of the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango Rivers Improvement Association, advises that his office is in receipt of a score of letters from prominent Pittsburgh firms who profit much through the prosperity of the valleys area in the sale of machinery, electrical equipment, engineering service, etc., endorsing the proposed tri-rivers improvement. He is what they say:

"We do not believe that providing slack water transportation for your districts will in any way be a detriment to Pittsburgh, and shall be glad to do anything we can to further your interests in this matter."

"I am heartily in favor of anything that will bring the Lake Erie-Ohio River water controversy to a consummation."

"We thoroughly agree that such improvement would be a great advantage to the manufacturers in the Pittsburgh district in transporting their merchandise, and will lend all possible aid to further this improvement."

"Anything that is in the interest of Youngstown or its manufacturers will have our most hearty support."

"While a canal connecting Pittsburgh with Lake Erie has been talked of for years, those interested in such a proposition have been unable to accomplish anything, and we are glad to see that the Youngstown manufacturers are getting in back of the project, as we believe if the canal is put through to Youngstown it will benefit Pittsburgh and, in course of time, will be the means of having the canal extended to Lake Erie."

"Beg to advise that we are heartily in favor of this project. We have voiced our feelings on several occasions regarding this, feeling it would be a great benefit to the Pittsburgh District, as well as the Shenango and Mahoning districts."

"In regard to the proposed improvement of the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango rivers connecting them with the Ohio River, I fully believe that this would be one of the great moves of the country."

"More machinery and equipment is shipped into Youngstown from the Pittsburgh district than from any other district and therefore anything that will improve conditions and increase the prosperity of the Youngstown district will reflect, in a like manner, in the Pittsburgh District."

"Since we have failed to make any headway ourselves, we do not think it wise to oppose those who may be able to accomplish what we believe, in the end, will be a very favorable asset to the whole of Pittsburgh and Youngstown areas."

No Agreement On Service By City Firemen

Boros And Townships Have Made No Agreement On Calls

"When the city fire apparatus goes outside the city and a fireman is injured who pays?" was the question put to Councilman Reeves and Genkinger today at city hall.

"The firemen would receive compensation," Genkinger replied.

"Do the various townships and boroughs contribute toward this aid?" Reeves was asked.

"No they don't and there should be some arrangement made by the officials of those places," Reeves replied.

The city fire officials for several years have tried to effect agreements with outside boroughs and townships.

None of them have entered into concrete agreements whereby they could be assured of city fire apparatus and employees.

Reeves stated today that the city would be willing to discuss the situation but a limit on where the apparatus could go would have to be reached as it would be impossible for the apparatus to travel on some roads.

The city fire apparatus recently has been called out of the city many times and has saved property.

Beaver Dam Proves Interesting Sight To Local Woman

One of the most interesting and unusual sights to be seen anywhere in this locality, is a dam built by beavers on Deer creek, near Shippenville, Pa., according to Mrs. Jane A. Pattison of this city, who recently visited the spot, and who describes their characteristics and habits.

These little animals are between three and four feet long, with a thick stocky body. Their ears are very small, while their eyes are quite large and bright. The tail is flat and broad and reminds one of a seal's flipper. The tail is used as a shovel.

They glide through the water very rapidly, nothing showing except their small head, but if they detect a slight noise, they plunge head-first into the water, just as a small boy ducks under for pennies, coming up some distance away.

Unfortunately, we did not see them at work, she states, but from the size of the dam, they have evidently been as "busy as beavers." It extends clear across Deer creek, probably thirty or forty feet, and is several feet in thickness. It is made of trees and mud. Some of the logs which they have sawed in two are four or five inches thick, a feat which seems almost impossible to be done, the animals having no tools to work with except their teeth.

We had been told the beavers would not appear until around six o'clock. At exactly three minutes to six, the first one showed up. He swam down to the dam, circled around a little and then climbed over the dam. Every eye was on the water and the several hundred people grouped on the bank remained almost motionless as all were eager to see this unusual sight. Never did we see more than two at a time, so no one knows how many there are in this retreat, but from their various sizes, we judged we had seen at least six or eight different ones.

The best time to see them at work is quite early in the morning, especially in the summer time. Most of their work is done in the dark. To reach "Beaver's Dam," one goes to within a mile of Shippenville via Franklin, turn left on a dirt road and follow it about a half mile. You have to park your car there and slide down to the creek. Slide is the only word which adequately expresses how you get there, Mrs. Pattison explained. The dirt road is plainly marked by signs and the trip is well worth taking, especially by nature lovers.

Witness Fees Not Paid City

County Has Not Paid Police Court Fees Over To City

POLICE PROTEST PAYMENT PLAN

County commissioners have refused to pay to the treasurer of the city police witness fees as the result of police having made objection to the method prescribed by council in a resolution passed several months ago. As a result it is possible that the commissioners and councilmen will discuss the proposal with police occupying the sidelines.

Several months ago a resolution directing that police called as witnesses in court trials had to receive written permission from the superintendents of their department and assign their fees to the city treasurer. This resolution did not meet with the approval of police and when they signed over the fees wrote on the forms: "I sign this under protest."

As a result the county commissioners, it is said, have not paid the amounts involved to the city treasurer.

Epworth League Has Business Meeting

A business meeting of the Epworth League of the Croton Methodist church was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Scott of North Walnut street. Ask Change Be Made At Polling Place

Petition To Change Polling Place In First District Of Union Township

Elector of Union township have filed a petition with the county commissioners asking that the polling place in the first district be changed from the Kurtz building on Round street to the Car building at Miller avenue on West Washington street extension. Commissioners decided to take no action, believing it outside of their jurisdiction. However, if electors will present a petition to the court asking that electors be given a chance to vote on the proposed change, the commissioners will have the question printed on the ballot for the November election, provided the court makes an order. There seems to be some difference of opinion regarding the change and commissioners believe that it could be best settled by a vote.

Finish Assessment Here This Month

Assessments in the city will probably be completed this month and appeals heard during October, according to a report today from city hall. The assessors are making the triennial assessment and the Second and last ward assessments are being made. It is reported that the assessments, generally, will not be higher. However, when asked recently relative to this, Councilman Burns stated he did not care to make a definite statement until the entire assessment had been made.

Cases On Trial At Court This Morning

The case of the commonwealth against John E. Wyrick, charged with issuing a check without sufficient funds in the bank to meet it, is on trial before Judge Chambers in court today. It is claimed that the check, which was for $42, was issued to Mrs. Roberts of the South Side Bakery.

The case of the commonwealth against William and Anna Kohansky, charged with possessing liquor, is on trial before Judge Hildebrand.

Scouts Plan Part In Chest Campaign

At least six teams of workers will be furnished the New Castle Community Chest by the local Boy Scout council for its annual drive next month. Scout Executive Herbert Horton announced today. He said the preliminary organization plans are now going forward.

The Boy Scout council is one of the organizations which benefit from the Chest.

Expect Hundreds Of Veterans Here For Tri-County Armistice Day Program

COMMITTEE MEETS TO FURTHER PLANS

An enthusiastic meeting of the Ways and Means committee and various committee chairmen of the Tri-County World War Service Men's Armistice Day observance to be held here November 11 was held last evening at the Legion Home with General chairman Louis B. Round presiding.

Such impetus was given the movement for the coming celebration of the anniversary of the ending of the World war, that its success is assured and it will be the best affair of the kind ever held in Western Pennsylvania.

Notification of posts of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Spanish American War Veterans in all parts of Pennsylvania and adjoining districts of Ohio, of just what big things are going to occur here on November 11 are to be sent out at once.

The speaker of the day will be Congressman John E. Rankin of Tupelo, Miss., former service man, and one of the outstanding exponents of the rights of the former service men, in the present congress. This fact alone is expected to enthrall the former service men of Western Pennsylvania to such an extent that on the evening of November 11 in the cathedral auditorium will be a crowd that will tax its capacity.

Bugle Corps Competition
There will be a drum and bugle corps competition with prizes that will bring competing veterans corps from far and wide and the people of the city will see and hear something that day, probably at Taggart field, the like of which has never before been their good fortune to do.

The first prize to be offered will be $300, while the second prize will be $150 and the third $50. There will be noteworthy judges here to decide the winners.

The merchants will be given two opportunities of shining forth on that day. One of the ways will be the window decorating contest for which three prizes will be given, first $25, second $15 and third $10. The other is the placing of floats in the parade for which there will be awards of merit for the better ones.

Troop P, our own National Guard unit, will also contribute in no small measure to the success of the occasion, putting on a program of stunts at troop headquarters on Scotland Lane, that will furnish thrills galore. It is also hoped to have other national guard units here.

One of the big jobs of the celebration will be the feeding of the members of the out-of-town participating units. While this matter has not been entirely arranged, the indications are that the feeding of the visitors will take place at the Carnegie auditorium. The ladies of the service men's auxiliaries will have this big job to perform.

Parade at 10 O'Clock

The parade is scheduled to get under way at ten o'clock on the morning of the 11th. Not only is it expected that all former service men of Lawrence, Butler and Mercer counties will be out in force for this feature, but it is expected to have several national guard units, scores of bugle and drum corps and bands, and large delegations from many of the civic organizations of the county and surrounding districts. Floats are expected also to feature the parade. A grand marshal and assistants will be named in the near future.

In the evening following the public meeting at which Congressman Rankin will speak, there will be a military ball in the ballroom of the cathedral. While this will be free to the out-of-town visiting delegations, there will be a sale of tickets here at a moderate price to help finance the big celebration.

One of the features of the evening meeting in the cathedral auditorium will be the annual memorial service and placing of wreaths in memory of those boys of the district who made the supreme sacrifice. This will be under the auspices of the local unit of the Overseas Women's Service League.

Dr. H. H. Rosenthal presented a letter from the chairman of last year's Tri-county celebration in Butler, in which the necessary budget and organization of the affair as put on there was given. It will be of material assistance to the local organization in putting on the celebration. Those in attendance at the meeting last night were L. B. Round, James A. Bell, Carl Turner, Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, William Sturdy, Thomas Edmunds, John D. Kennedy, William S. Lewis, Dr. W. Fulton Jackson, Ivor Davis, Orville Potter, Ralph Montgomery, Wilbur Chapman, Russell Melvin, Chester Swartz, Phil Greer, Guy J. Wadlinger, H. K. Bell, Harry M. Long and Dr. H. H. Rosenthal.

Indicate Record Crowd For "Odds"

Demand For Seats Is Heavy—Program Will Be Memorable

Reserved seats for "Odds" are as greatly in demand as they were for "Parr" and that means something.

Reservations being tomorrow morning at 9:00 o'clock at Snyder's Piano Store and will find the board with all the tickets; none will be left and those being at Snyder's first will have the choice of seats. The service division had a joint meeting with Mrs. Roy Long and her women's ticket committees at the Cathedral last night and great enthusiasm was manifested. Mr. Charles Sankey chairman of the men's ticket committee and Mrs. Roy Long have put forth great effort in promoting the sale of seats for this production and they were greatly repaid for their efforts by the way the committees responded in roll call to seats sold at the meeting last night. The service division is expecting a sell-out for both nights for their great production that will be even further superior in entertainment qualities than their last great production, "Parr."

Jack Reid Movie Star to be in Act
Jack Reid, who made a Paramount picture in August in New York City, and whose crooning songs and ukelele playing will be remembered at the New Castle night fair and who has lately become affiliated with the Kearns-Wheldon Producing Company will appear in the cast. Mr. Reid who has appeared at the noon day luncheon clubs in the city is becoming a great favorite.

Cast to Be Professional
Mr. Kearns announced last evening that the cast was rounding into great shape and expects "Odds" to be an ultra professional performance with local artists in the leading roles. The service division and the ladies ticket committees came to the stage in a body after the meeting last evening and were astonished with the work of the routines. Mr. Patterson, in charge of all routine work, has whipped over ninety local boys and girls into a routine perfection that will click like a speedometer. The routines are in a stage of perfection at this time, that the curtain could go up tomorrow and they would be ready. Cecil Bowles at the piano and composer of six of the song hits of the show, has the musical part of the show clicking perfectly.

Jubilee Singers to Star
The Jubilee singers are a feature that will not be heard for a long time again. In New Castle, sixteen of the greatest voices obtainable in the city have been molded into an ensemble perfection that will be the most appreciated feature rendered in the production in this city for sometime. All and all "Odds" is a great show.

Senior Hi-Y Here Making Ready For Season Activities

President Shira Confers With Boys Work Director Thomas On Plans

Senior Hi-Y activities in conjunction with the Y. M. C. A. are expected to commence in a short time. William Shira, president of the Hi-Y has been in conference with W. A. Thomas, director of boys' work. Plans for club work was lined up for the coming year.

The club expects to supervise five or six clubs and to promote the Gospel teams of the "Y". The Senior Hi-Y Gospel groups will be open for engagements after October 1. The organization is comprised of three relays of boys who visit churches and take charge of the whole or part of the service.

Arrangements are being made to hold joint meetings between the local Senior Hi-Y and Hi-Y's from Grove City, New Wilmington and Tarentum. Harry Shannon is the vice president and Kenneth Atkinson secretary.

Vice President Shannon has charge of the special letter writing to former Hi-Y members now in colleges.

New Agreement On Watchmen At Crossings Here

P.-O. Company Watchmen To Be Replaced By P. R. Men

It was learned today that an agreement has been reached between the Pennsylvania R. R. and P-O Electric Railway companies whereby P-O watchman will be eliminated and crossings guarded by P. R. watchmen.

The agreement affects six watchmen employed by the P-O. The agreement will become effective October 1, it is reported.

The companies each have watchmen at cross-overs on the east side, South Mill street and Mahoning avenue.

No agreement has yet been reached with the P. & L. E. on the South Mill street P. & L. E.-P-O cross-over.

An agreement with the Erie railroad concerning the West Washington street crossing has been in effect for some time.

Jubilee Celebration By J.O.U.A.M. To Be Held Thursday Night

Four Hundredth Meeting Of Castle Council Will Include Ceremonies

Important ceremonials will inaugurate the jubilee celebration of Castle council No. 365, Junior Order of United American Mechanics of New Castle, which will meet in McGoun hall Thursday evening to commemorate the local council's 400th meeting.

Distinguished speakers, including Val D. Martin of Philadelphia, state councillor, and Joseph Beaverman of Pittsburgh, past state councillor, will be present. Three degrees of the order will be given. Silver and bronze medals for efficiency in campaigns in the interest of the order will be presented to members, including E. C. Snyder and Russell Patterson.

The arrangements for the jubilee celebration are in charge of Ben Wilcox, who is assisted by Clarence McConnell, present councillor of Castle council, and John Gillette and Clare Gorley.

The J. O. U. A. M. is a patriotic, fraternal and beneficial secret order. Its history in New Castle has been replete with a constructive program that has been observed by members for many years. The organization first had its inception here 87 years ago with the organization of council No. 180. The order's unit in New Castle was re-organized on October 17, 1928, with the selection of R. D. Snyder as the council councillor.

The order is pre-eminently American. It encourages every American to own his own home. It teaches its members to accept the will of the majority but to labor in season and out of season to keep the majority intelligent.

The organization has 2,500 councils in 40 states, comprising a membership of 345,000.

Perhaps the greatest work of the order is the maintenance of the orphan's home at Tiffin, O., where 1,035 children are housed from 24 states.

Appreciates News During Past Year

One year ago Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pattison of the New Bedford road were awarded a year's subscription to The New Castle News, as a prize for being the smallest couple in New Castle at a Dollar Day Sales Event.

Mrs. Pattison called The News today to express her gratitude at the prize. "We certainly could not have won anything that could have given us any more pleasure than the past year's subscription to The News," she said.

Bell Employees Have Steak Fry

Employees of the Commercial Department of the Bell Telephone company enjoyed a steak fry at the cottage of Sheriff Frank Johnston at Wilmington Junction last evening, 22 employees, their wives and husbands being present.

Following a delicious steak dinner prepared by the men, the succeeding hours were spent in bridge and music.

First Trans-Atlantic Flier Related To New Castle Man

Airplane flights across the Atlantic serve only to remind a New Castle man that his kin participated in the flight that went down in history as the original trans-Atlantic hop.

When Mr. and Mrs. John Whitten of 214 East Wallace avenue, visited Europe recently during a tour of nine weeks their trip was replete with a journey from Liverpool to Manchester where they paid a visit to Mrs. Emma Brown, Mr. Whitten's cousin and the mother of one of the first trans-Atlantic fliers, Maj. Arthur Whitten Brown, now Sir Brown.

Maj. Brown and Capt. Alcock made the first hop across the Atlantic in history when they flew from Nova Scotia to Ireland in 1919.

The flight of the New Castle man's second cousin and Capt. Alcock never received the acclaim of the world as did the recent flights of Lindbergh or Cote and Bellonte. The first flight was accomplished in a crude airplane. Airplanes of today have made rapid strides to perfection since the days of the 1919 flight.

Mrs. Emma Brown the mother of Sir Brown rarely speaks of that first flight. To her all flying became anathema. It recalls to her the days of the war when her son was an ace of the Royal Flying Corps and had been shot down by German aviators. A prisoner for months, Brown was finally traded for another prisoner and allowed to go to Switzerland for hospital treatment.

The New Castle Whittens visited France, England, Ireland, Scotland, Holland, Belgium and Germany. They were in the principal cities of Europe.

The visit to Ireland, made when they crossed the Irish sea from Glasgow, Scotland, to Belfast, Ireland, was for the purpose of visiting relatives of Mr. Whitten's father. The relatives, named Hooke, were found residing in Market Hill, Ireland.

The locals left New York harbor on the S. S. Laconia for Liverpool, on June 17 and arrived at their first English port, eight days later. The return was made on the S. S. Euscania.

WOMAN IS BITTEN BY COPPERHEAD

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 24.—Mrs. Martha Baker of Breakneck, was bitten on the small toe of the left foot by a copperhead snake yesterday while picking apples near her home. The snake was killed by another member of the party. Two weeks ago Mrs. Baker's step-daughter, Florence Baker, was bitten four times by a copperhead, which escaped.

Airmail Pickup Discontinuance Not Explained

Letter To Postmaster Does Not Give Hint For Abandonment Of System

D. Roy Bradford, operator of Bradford field, declared he had no statement to make when asked today whether he could explain a message received Monday by Postmaster E. W. Crawford announcing that the airmail system has been permanently abandoned at the airport.

The letter was received from the second assistant postmaster general in Washington, D. C.

The local airport operator was surprised to learn the news in the newspaper. No word had been received by him, it is learned.

The letter, a brief one, gave the postmaster no explanation for the discontinuance of the service.

The system was inaugurated at Bradford field August 4, simultaneous with its introduction in Beaver Falls by the inventor.

The Stamp of Good Food

A symbol that signifies quality and price

What's in a name? Nothing but the action and conduct that lie behind it and give it special significance. So the simple characters, "A&P," have come to have a place in the speech of most Americans as a symbol for high quality food at low prices.

There is a sound reason for this. Sticking to its policy for nearly three-quarters of a century, A&P has sold the best foods it could buy at prices made possible only by serving many customers with the kind of food they want.

Thus "A&P" has become a hall mark for sterling grades of food at a cost which used to be associated only with poorer grades. A&P customers depend on its trade mark as buyers of silver depend on the stamp, "Sterling," for solid metal.

Local Woman Was In Johnstown At Time Of Death Carrying Deluge

A graveyard and a few landmarks serve as grim reminders at Johnstown, Pa., of that terrible flood that wiped out the city and killed several thousands forty-one years ago. The horrors of that deadly deluge can not now will they ever be really understood by any except those who were actually there when the tragic catastrophe occurred.

Mrs. Mina Thomas, of North Front street, this city, at the time of the flood lived in Johnstown with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Zubrod, and, although she was a very young child, that dark and stormy day when the Conemaugh Valley was inundated is an indelible memory to her.

The Zubrod home was located on the hillside at Johnstown and was not touched by the roaring torrent. None of Mrs. Thomas' relatives perished although some had narrow escapes.

The cause of the flood that shocked the world was the bursting of the South Fork Reservoir, several miles above Johnstown. Some Pittsburgh men, members of a hunting and fishing club, had the dam enlarged several times until there was a three mile lake behind it. For seven years the people of Johnstown and the valley villages feared that the dam would sometime burst.

But when the fatal day arrived, the people of the city were slow to take the warning when the modern "Paul Revere," Daniel Peyton galloped his horse through the city yelling, "To the hills for God's sake! To the hills for your lives!" The warning ones hesitated. It was a warning they had heard before. The warning was quickly varied but for many it was too late.

Mrs. Thomas' father, with several other men, were down at the railroad tracks in the lowest part of the valley. While talking to the men Mr. Zubrod happened to glance up the valley. What he saw appalled him. He clasped the arm of one of the men, gasped and pointed. Coming toward them was a wall of water that appeared to be a hundred feet high, rolling, rolling down the Johnstown, like a hungry tiger released into a sheep-hound.

The men ran to a long flight of steps leading up the hill side from the tracks. Mrs. Thomas' father was next to last man on the steps. When he reached the top he reached for the hand of the man below him and yanked him to the firm ground above. It was just then that the torrent crashed into the flight of steps, carrying them on.

The home of an uncle of Mrs. Thomas was uplited from its foundations and carried for miles with the flood. It rammed into a tree and the tree trunk went right through it. Photographs were taken of the wreck after the flood.

From the Zubrod home on the hill side, all the ghastly scene could be witnessed clearly. The people of the hills were helpless to aid the drowning, gasping, struggling, fighting and departed thousands below.

To add to the horror of the thing, the houses carty by the waters banged up against the big stone Pennsylvania Railroad bridge that crosses the Conemaugh. The wrecks took fire and many people were fated to be carried in the torrent straight into the Inferno to terrible deaths.

After the flood Mr. Zubrod told his daughter of some of the pitiful things he had seen. He told of seeing a dog standing shakily on top of its little dog house, chained by the neck to the house. Then there was a small tot being carried to death on a floating board, kneeling on her knees and praying.

One of the many grimly humorous tricks of the flood, Mrs. Thomas told the writer, was the carrying away of a splendid new woolen mill just erected. The mill was built because of protest that the old mill was a dangerous place for employees, it having been condemned several times. After the flood, the old mill stood untouched, while the new one had disappeared.

Two years later, Mrs. Thomas was present at the unveiling of a beautiful monument in memory of the 816 unknown dead. On the monument was a statue of a woman robed in white, with right arm raised high in the air. When the memorial program commenced, Mrs. Thomas remembers that a little song bird perched on the index finger of the raised arm and throughout the long program it warbled its beautiful tunes.

ganization and that "at the outset temporary disadvantages incident to such major changes are reflected before the benefits may be realized." He added that this feature had been aggravated by a decline in volume of business and in prices to the lowest level in several years, but that "a return of normal business conditions is confidently expected to show gratifying results."

Modern Godiva Shocks Squire

Clad In Nature's Garb, She Rides Into Ohio Town In Auto Instead Of On Horse

SAWYERWOOD, O., Sept. 24.—A modern Lady Godiva, who rode in a car instead of on a horse, disrupted the serenity of Squire Liston McIntyre's court room here today.

After the last case had been disposed of a blushing policeman, eyes modestly upcast, entered with a woman who wore exactly the same costume as did the fabled wife of Leofric. She had two men companions fully clad. They had been driving through Sawyerwood in a motor car, the policeman complained.

Squire McIntyre, after a moment of amazed silence, motioned the three to seats in the courtroom while he retired with attaches to discuss whether Sawyerwood should punish where Coventry did not.

But when he returned he found the trio had gone. Returning to their car they had continued their journey to an unannounced destination.

New Castle women give this verdict at Strouss-Hirshberg's

is an accepted winter fashion

Why, only last week almost fifty per cent of the dresses sold on our second floor were black! Smart women are choosing black for afternoon, for evening, for sports wear and for street, and finding it distinguished upon every occasion.

At Strouss-Hirshberg's, black proves that it can be youthful... cut slenderly, and touched with white or color. And black can be sporty or stately, informal or important-dashing or demure... according to the interpretation you like best here!

THE BLACK FROCK with a tunic is the more significant for expressing the Russian influence. Black crepe frocks frequently add color at the neckline or wrist sometimes in the form of undersleeves. $15 to $39.50.

BLACK COATS with fitch, badger or other light furs, are competing with all-black coats for the interest of style-alert women. A favorite cloth is Kashmirite, favorite dark furs caracul and Persian lamb. $59.50 to $195.

BLACK HATS are never smarter than when they're allied with a suggestion of white gailyak. Some of ours are youthfully chic with feather accents... others depend solely upon drapes and unusual lines. $5.00 to $12.50.

BAGS in black calfskin, pin seal and antelope adapt themselves to daytime activities. And here are embroidered silk bags for afternoon functions. $2.95 to $12.

BLACK KID GLOVES in pull-on style may be correctly chosen for daytime and afternoon with black dresses. $3.95.

"Scarface" Capone Will Surrender

Scarface Capone And His Brother Will Submit To Arrest On Vagrancy Charge

ASK TO BE GIVEN FREEDOM ON BAIL

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Offers from both "Scarface Al" Capone and his brother Ralph to surrender to vagrancy today marked Chicago's war against its twenty six "public enemies".

The gang overlords offer to give himself up on the vagrancy charge was made through four lawyers who appeared before municipal judge John Lyle, sponsor of the war against crime.

The lawyers said their two clients were ready to surrender on the condition that they be released on bail at once. No promises were made, according to the judge. Authorities, however, expected the two gangsters to give themselves up.

That the Board Vagrancy law of 1874, recently pressed into use to prosecute gangsters, may bring solution to the murder of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, racketeering reporter, was the assertion of judge Lyle after a conference with leaders of the People's forces in the battle against crime.

The Vagrancy Law, he explained, will be used to force gangsters into court to testify under oath regarding the Lingle murder and others that preceded it.

Ralph Capone goes to trial today in federal court when the government will attempt to prove his ownership of two night resorts where liquor was found in recent raids.

Shofar Blasts Proclaim Rosh Hashana End Today

Blasts from the shofar, the ram's horn that is blown on Rosh Hashana, this morning concluded the New Year's services of Congregation Beth Shalom in the Cathedral where Rabbi Samuel I. Zakuto has conducted services for a New Castle Jewish congregation.

At the Tuesday evening service in the Cathedral the Yigdal prayer was recited. Rabbi Zakuto gave a detailed outline of the history and use of the Yigdal, one of the classics of modern Judaism. Rabbi Zakuto said: "The author of the Yigdal, which is known in English as the 'Living God' is unknown, but it is attributed to certain Daniel Ben Judah who lived in the 13th century and is supposed to have spent eight years in the improvement of this hymn. It has been translated into English by Israel Zangwill."

The Yigdal is based upon the 13 principles of faith of Maimonides, who was the greatest Jewish philosopher. It contains 13 verses, each being based on one of the 13 Jewish beliefs.

Speaking on the "Meaning and Origin of Shofar Sounds" at the morning services today, Rabbi Zakuto said that the shofar has played a leading part in the history of Judaism and its blowing has been a ceremony since Biblical times. He said:

"It marks the advance of time and arouses in man's mind the question as to how he spent the past year and what he will do to mend his ways in the coming year. It is a signal to remind Jews of their real purpose in life and is a call for a searching examination of deeds and conduct for the past year."

The shofar is made from a ram's horn and for centuries has called to mind the story of the willing sacrifice of Isaac as a test of Abraham's trust and fulfillment in God. Abraham sacrificed a ram instead of his son.

The shofar sounds comprise 30 in number as prescribed by ritual. Four variations are used at the Rosh Hashana service. The four are known as the "tekiah, a blast; a "teruha", a wailing sound; a "shovram", a moaning sound; "shovram-teruha", a combination sound of wailing and moaning.

Thousand Attend Shenango Schools

Enrollment For Term Greater Than Other Years; Buses Haul Many

Attendance at the Shenango township consolidated school, located east of the city, has ascended to its highest peak in history with 905 pupils enrolled to date. In the grade school division 729 pupils are enrolled while 176 students are registered in the high school classes.

Speaking of the increase, Principal Clare Book declared that so great was the increase in attendance that another school bus was purchased to comfortably transport the students back and forth.

In the three different grade school buildings throughout the township, which also operate under Mr. Book's jurisdiction, a total of 192 pupils are enrolled. The total township enrollment is 1,097.

Seven buses in the service of the township make 15 trips to and from the high school building daily, carrying a total of 715 boys and girls. Despite the fact that more students are enrolled, the average number carried this year is eight students lower than during the last term, Mr. Book explained.

A total of 120 Shenango pupils are attending classes at the Shenango-Taylor joint school, Mr. Book announced. This school is operated separate from the rest.

ROAMING

With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

In the past few years the citizens of Ellwood City have either been arranging to get a new road, or else dedicating one. Between dedications they organize for another one, and life in the bustling borough to the south is just one round of dedication of concrete highways. The latest one to be formally dedicated will be that stretch between Ellwood City and Portersville, one of the prettiest roads in this tri-county district.

There's a bit of history back of that road that is interesting. The road is mostly in Lawrence County but partly in Butler county. There was some state money available for it from Lawrence County, some Lawrence County money and Butler county had a few dollars it was ready to daub in.

Had each piece of money had been used by and for itself there would have been three different contracts let, three different jobs and probably three detours.

A gang of go-getters from Ellwood, New Castle and Butler County got together one night in a little hotel in Portersville. The food was good, the speeches were short, and the feeling was friendly. Then the crowd adjourned to the bar room. Now wait, it is just a room but back in those other days it was the bar room.

A couple of the boys from Ellwood City put their feet on the brass rail and began to reminisce. Finally one brother said, "we ought to put this road through from Ellwood City to Portersville." Looking over at the Lawrence County commissioners, John Offutt of Ellwood said "What do you say fellows." "Let's go" was the answer and that is about as much formality and detail as it took.

The road has been needed for years. It's important to Ellwood and all the southern end of this county. A motorist can now go from Enon Valley to the Perry Highway by way of Wampum and Ellwood City and save miles. And on next Wednesday the road will be opened.

That meeting in Portersville was a short one, but one that produced results. It didn't take any high sounding resolutions, no long committee meetings, no palavering. A group of go-getters got together, the spirit of co-operation was there, and in a few moments the whole thing was settled.

And it seems to me on next Wednesday when the motorcade goes through Portersville, the crowd ought to stop off in that little bar room, and standing with one foot on the brass rail, and a foaming beaker of ginger ale in hand, drink a toast to the gang that put the thing through.

Roamed up around the Cathedral last night where the rehearsals for "Odds" are going on. Quite a pot purri. Lot of good looking girls, lot of male singers (not so good looking), lot of stage hands, tinkle of piano and staccato of toe tapping. Lines, words, phrases, and commands. Bedlam and confusion, or so it seems to the outsider, but by next Monday night, the dress rehearsal night, the show will be as smooth as a pair of blue serge pants.

The local Thespians get a chance to strut their stuff for two nights, and customers it really is going to be good. And some of those seventeen year old chorus girls! Don't rush, fellows, there will be plenty of seats for all.

Over at the Synder Piano company they tell me that the reservation for the Sue Harvard recital on September 30th are going good. They still have your seat there, however, and you can get it any time you call. The night is September 30th.

Got another report of a garden which was not effected by the drought. John Nelson of Moody avenue, has a garden out near the Harbor. All summer long he worked it and after hearing what he got from it I'm wondering what happened to the succotash farm. Tomatoes that look like toy balloons, beans enough to give every Chinaman in Shanghai a couple, and cabbage, dunt est. One cabbage he plucked or picked or cut or however you gather cabbage, weighs 15 pounds.

Fifteen pounds of cabbage properly treated would make a tasty fork of sauerkraut if you ask me, and after all sauerkraut is the chief end of cabbage.

After hearing of gardens like that I'm wondering what other alibi other than the drought some of us can use.

It's AS EASY and natural to enjoy the fragrant mildness of a Camel Cigarette as it is to admire beauty when you see it.

Camels are made, and always have been made, for discriminating smokers—the people whose keen judgment unerringly selects the best. But that doesn't mean you have to be an expert to enjoy Camels! The delicate, mellow fragrance of those choice sun-ripened tobaccos is something that anybody can appreciate. Camels are naturally smooth and mild—never parched nor insipid.

Why is there such a swing to Camels? Because more and more smokers are learning the difference between true mildness and mere flatness. Give yourself the luxury of a cigarette that's always pleasant smoking.

Improvement Shown In Steel Industry

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 24.—Sustained improvement, although not rapid, in iron and steel demand with much of the betterment represented by future commitments rather than orders for current shipment will be noted by the Iron Age tomorrow in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade.

Aggregate specifications are averaging close to 15 per cent higher than in August and for some steel sales offices are running ahead of the volume a year ago.

Obscurity to the full extent of gain in steel released is due to the tardy response of ingot output to expanding rolling mill schedules. Current steel ingot output at 65 per cent compares with 58 per cent in the two previous weeks.

BEAVER, Pa., Sept. 24.—After a jury had been selected today Grenville Harlowe, Hopewell township, indicted for shooting his wife, changed his plea to guilty and was sentenced to serve from one and one-half to three years in the penitentiary.

Harlowe tried to kill his wife while they were in bed June 30, officers told the court. Three bullet wounds were found in her body, it was testified.

TRIES SUICIDE IN ERIE COUNTY JAIL

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 24.—Harvey Pollaro, 27, of Duluth, Minn., was cut down from an improvised gallows in the city jail last night in an unconscious condition. He was taken to Hamot hospital where his condition was reported as favorable today.

Pollaro, recovering from the effects of moonshine, endeavored to hang himself in his cell late yesterday afternoon, according to the police. Taking off his black shirt he made a noose of one end and tied the other to bars overhead and was strangling himself.

Clara Bow Involved In Gambling Debt

Reported Movie Actress Lost Heavily At Gaming Table
And Stopped Check Payment

Miss Bow Denies That She Owes Anybody Any Money, But Fails To Deny Gambling

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 24.—
Further developments were awaited today in the controversy resulting from reports that Clara Bow had played for high stakes at a Calneva, Nev. resort and, losing, had issued checks for $13,500 which were later stopped.

In answer to the charges Miss Bow only denied that anyone had any "rightful claims" to money from her.
The red haired film star neither confirmed nor denied reports that she lost large sums at the Calneva gaming tables.

That the matter might be settled by Miss Bow's employers, the Paramount Famous Lasky Corporation, was considered a possibility when George B. Chatter, an attorney, announced in Reno that he had appeared to B. P. Schulberg of the Paramount company. Schulberg's statement denied this, however. He declared:

"Certainly no one has gotten in touch with me about payment of any check whatsoever supposedly signed by Clara Bow. I know nothing about any such report."

"If anyone in the world feels he has a rightful claim against me for any sum of money whatsoever, which I deny, I will gladly accept service of any legal document," Miss Bow said.
"I always pay every honest debt promptly."

Four checks were given to cover the young woman's losses, according to the Calneva resort management.
These were returned by the Hollywood branch of the California Bank marked "payment stopped."

Suit Is Brought To Secure Commission

E. J. O'Brien Files Suit At The Court House Against George G. Double

E. J. O'Brien has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against George G. Double in which he is seeking to recover $600 commission for the sale of Double's farm in Scott township.
O'Brien alleges that the farm, con-hands for sale and that he took C. L.

Weigle to see the property. After some negotiations the property was sold for $12,000, the deed being taken in the name of Lulu B. Weigle, wife of C. L. Weigle. O'Brien says that the sale was made through his efforts and that he is entitled to the

Harry Dennis and John Dennis are defendants in a suit filed at the prothonotary's office by the commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the use of T. W. Welch in which it is sought to recover $207.50. Statement of claim recites that on the 9th of December, 1927, a bond in the sum of $300 was given conditioned that Harry Dennis comply with an order of court to pay Welch $2 per week for the support of James Dennis. It is claimed the payments are in default.

Pittsburgh Mother Asks School Men Educate Cripple

Boy Seventeen Hopeless
Cripple Believed Entitled To School Education

IN CLASSROOM

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 24.—Board of education members of this city today were earnestly striving to solve a problem—a problem of finding some means of educating a 17-year-old boy, hopelessly and incurably crippled, who is pleading for educational privileges of other school children.

For several years the boy's mother, Mrs. A. L. Helbling, carried her son to school each morning and home again each night. But now he has become too heavy and must stay at home.

Heart-broken, she sent her boy to an industrial home but he was refused admission because his physical ailment was incurable.

"Other cities have some means of educating boys like mine," a letter to the board from the boy's mother pleaded. "He is very bright and always ranked among the best scholars in his class. Won't you do something for him?"

Dr. C. W. Gerwig, a member of the board, commented:

"Steinmetz wasn't physically very good, either, but he had a brilliant mind."

"This boy appears to have an unusually bright mind. And those are few in Pittsburgh. If our city is civilized then we should do something for this boy. He has every right to enjoy an education. He wants one, therefore we should see that he gets it."

Dr. Gerwig was referring to the late Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, who although crippled and dwarfed, became one of the greatest mathematical and electrical geniuses of the century.

Penn-Ohio Engineer Will Arrive Today

Claude Timblin, Maintenance Of Ways Head, Will Confer With Coulthard

Claude Timblin, maintenance of ways engineer of the Penn-Ohio system, was expected to arrive in New Castle this afternoon to confer with local officials of the power company on proposed alterations to the South
Beaver street car barns.

Work has already started on the changes in the machine shop in the barns. It is planned to install a new wash rack for cars. Chris C. Coul-thard, railways superintendent here, said Timblin and others here will study plans for the maintenance of a bus garage in the former car barn machine shop.

The power company has a lease with its bus garage on Shenango street until April.

West Side Floral Exhibit Friday

The flower show at the West Side school building will be Friday afternoon from two until four o'clock instead of Thursday, as was previously announced, there being an error in the announcement. Parents of the West Side district will participate in the flower show, which is being held under the auspices of the school's parents-teachers association. Awards will be made to winners.

Ahepa Membership Convenes Sunday

Additional reports of the recent national Ahepa at Boston, will be given at the meeting of the New Castle tee, will leave New Castle Thursday morning for the national Scout convention in Indiana.

The first several days there will be spent in council training classes.
Policies, methods and problems of organization will be discussed. After council training the conference sessions will open. Some 500 will attend.

ITALIANS HAVE FINE BANQUET

Donato Pirelli Gives Banquet
For Members Of Feast Of September 8 Committee

Home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank DiSal-vo on the East Brook road was the scene of an enjoyable gathering on Tuesday evening, when Mr. and Mrs.
DiSalvo with Donato Pirelli gave a banquet for the members of the committee of the feast of September 8.
Donato Pirelli, general chairman of the committee, was the speaker of the elaborate affair. Dinner was prepared by Mrs. Frank DiSalvo and her daughter, Mrs. Rocco Germani, who helped to make a real success of the event by their tasty cooking. Aides were the Misses Antoinette and Rose DiSalvo and Misses Florence and Yolanda Carney.

Dinner consisted of five courses, including the favorite dish "spaghetti."

Members of the committee present were as follows: Genoroso Rubbics, Rocco Germani, Sam Horse, Perry
Latoria, Joe Cemmine, Jim Pavia,
Carmen Stone, Nick Memmo, Joe Fussi, Floyd Piroletti, Benedetto Capone, Giovanni Blouse, Luigi Pumeni, Egidio Sforzi, Michael Panella, David Disalvo, Justin Carney, John Dionilli.

Special guests of honor were Petro
Iodice, B. Biondi, Alfonso Scarazzo, Petro Capitoli, Baccile Valentio and Frank DiSalvo.

Dedicate Bridge On Susquehanna

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 24.—With only the finishing touches to be added, Lancaster and York await the opening of the new inter-county bridge on the Lincoln highway across the Susquehanna river, which will bind the two counties from Columbia to Wrightsville.

The bridge is opened to traffic but the dedication will be delayed until November 11, when the great span will be dedicated a memorial erected in tribute to the memory of soldiers, sailors, marines and nurses—the two counties who participated in all wars.

Dry Question Is Evaded By Pinchot Hemphill Charges

Burning Issue Of Campaign Is National Prohibition, Says John M. Hemphill

SPEAKS TONIGHT IN UNIONTOWN

(International News Service)
GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 24.—
"The burning issue of this campaign is national prohibition—and Pinchot is dodging the issue."

Thus declared John M. Hemphill, Democratic aspirant for the governorship, when he arrived here today from Philadelphia.

Hemphill said that Gifford Pinchot, his opponent, is "running around," the prohibition question and dodging it with a "rather extravagant program of undeliverable promises."

"Wherever we have gone in the state, including the central counties of the Cumberland valley, it has been evident that the burning issue of the campaign is national prohibition," Hemphill said.

"Try as hard as he pleases, Pin-chot will not be able to avoid the issue."

The Democratic nominee expressed optimism that a considerable portion of Philadelphia's normally Republican vote would be diverted to his standard because, he said, many Philadelphians
"aren't going to swallow Pinchot."

Hemphill was accompanied by George F. Douglass, Democratic candidate for the Superior court bench.
He was met here by Judge Henry C.
Niles, of York county, contestant for a Supreme court judgeship, and prominent Westmoreland county Democrats.

The party then proceeded into Fayette county to attend a road opening at Indian Head. The Democratic candidates will address a mass meeting at the Fayette county courthouse at Uniontown tonight.

Sue Harvard Plans Rich Program Here

With less than a week intervening between now and the date of the Sue Harvard recital on September 30, the indications seem to point to a good concert for this rather unusual musical event. The added fact that the net proceeds are to be used for the benefit of the Jameson Memorial hospital has lent impetus to the movement and tickets are going fast.

Nearly seven hundred have already been reserved in the Snyder Piano store which is a splendid advance sale.
This does not include the fifty cent general admissions which will not be reserved.

Already the boxes are entirely gone, forty of them. The demand for boxes was so great that it was necessary to take over some of the regular seats and convert them into boxes.

There is still time to get a choice seat for the recital, still a chance to do a little towards aiding the Jameson Memorial hospital, still an opportunity to pay tribute to a New Castle girl who does not forget her home city.

The Parent Problem

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Share Toil Of the Home With Mother

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.
Fellow Dads! Lose no opportunity to share the mother's burdens. Learn to do housework and care for little children. If you enjoy knowing you are making others happy, you will find such help a recreation. Read a great deal to the younger children. Nothing finer for their education, for your comradeship with them, and for relieving a tired mother. Remember that your wife's physical and mental health and her happiness mean everything to you and to your children, and to your ultimate professional success.

Make out a family budget. In it provide for some help for the mother—such as washing or cleaning, in case you do not do a good part of it yourself, particularly if she easily fatigues. To do so is good economics. Many husbands pay hospital and doctor bills and some pay early funeral expenses, which could have been saved with great dividends by laundry bills and wages for some help.

Also see to it that the mother has a reasonable allowance for her own clothes, commensurate with the family income, so that she can feel self-respecting among her friends. Be sure the children are not overly well dressed at the sacrifice of the mother's wardrobe.

Better to go without a car if necessary, and not to own a house, than to let the mother wear herself out slaving for the family; better, too, than to make her always feel she has nothing to wear in which she can be reasonably comfortable.

Of course, there are some extremes in the opposite direction, but generally it is the mother who is last to look after herself, regardless of her quiet suffering.

No matter how much you love your children, you cannot have the happiest family unless father and mother's comradeship come first. Learn to read things the mother will enjoy. Read and discuss such things together. Find some way of going out rather frequently with her, leaving the children in good care. She needs a week-end vacation once in a while away from the children. You can keep them. There's no rest for the mother who must drag the little ones along with her. Then, indeed, it is her cares increase.

er frequently with her, leaving the children in good care. She needs a week-end vacation once in a while away from the children. You can keep them. There's no rest for the mother who must drag the little ones along with her. Then, indeed, it is her cares increase.

Forget not when you come home that she is not your pupil or employee. Don't talk down to her. When you go out with her and have guests make her your queen and refer to her as you did in your earlier sweetheart days. If you watch yourself closely you may discover that you tend to take words from her mouth, to butt in on her conversation and to answer the questions meant for her. Struggle with yourself to correct this rudeness. You are the more likely to do these boorish things just because you are a professional man.

In most towns and cities there are public night schools and, in some, colleges and universities. If the mother can properly budget her time, persuade her to register in a course or two, not many. Not that she might prepare particularly for a vocation, but rather the enrich her interests and to afford her wider means of self-enjoyment.

MT. HERMON

There will be services at the Hermon Presbyterian next Sunday morning at ten thirty followed by Sunday school. Rev. Greenlee, pastor.

The Oak Grove Christian church will observe home coming day next Sunday September 28. Sunday school at two o'clock and preaching service at three o'clock. Rev. Sniff, pastor. Rose Munnell of Geneva and Ashley Stevenson of Slippery Rock spent their week end at their respective homes here.

Martha Boak accompanied by her mother Mrs. J. A. Boak returned to State College Monday where she will resume her school work.

Raymond Munnell has returned to Grove City to resume his studies.

Miss Ida Crocker of New Castle is spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Stevenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Storer are on the jury this week.

THE QUESTION BOX

Answers to questions on information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O., and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions, nor will the estimated value of old coins be given.

For what do the initials U. S. S. R. stand?

Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. What is The Old Lady of Thread-needle Street?

The Bank of England.

Is there a twentieth amendment to the United States Constitution now being considered?

An amendment proposing federal regulation of child labor has been ratified by five states.

What is the oath which the president of the United States takes when he is inaugurated?

"I do solemnly swear or affirm that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

How is the sale of liquor regulated in Canada?

By provincial, not federal, authority.

What is a woodcut?

A print from an engraving made on wood, or the block from which the print is made.

What is the largest play producing center in the world?

New York.

When speaking to the president of the United States what is the proper form of address? Also how would you begin a letter to him?

It is correct to address him as "Mr. President." A letter may be begun with either "Dear Mr. President," or "My dear Mr. President."

Who was "Butcher" Weyler? He was General Valeriano Weyler, Spanish commander in Cuba in the war of 1898.

Is it true that Niagara Falls is gradually receding? The brink of Niagara Falls has cut itself back approximately seven miles in 30,000 years. The present rate of erosion is from two and one-half to four feet a year.

ENDS DIGESTIVE ILLS QUICK AND GAINS 10 POUNDS

Food does not nourish when it is not properly digested. That's why people who suffer from gas on stomach and bowels, belching, nausea, headaches, dizziness, etc., due to indigestion, often find themselves underweight, weak, with little energy and vitality. All this is quickly changed when you start using the simple discovery known as Pape's Diapepsin. When people experience for themselves the amazing results of using these tasty little tablets, they invariably feel compelled to tell others.

Mrs. Amber Ross, 140 Herkimer Street, Brooklyn, N.Y., says: "I suffered for many months with indigestion, nervousness and headaches, trying all the time to get relief by dieting and medicines. Then I learned about Pape's Diapepsin and began on it. It has been a wonderful help to me. I eat onions now without bad after-effects. How they used to make me suffer! Friends that I have told about Diapepsin have been helped in the same way. I have gained ten pounds since starting on it."

All druggists sell it; or if you wish to try it before buying, write "Pape's Diapepsin," Wheeling, W. Va., for a trial box, FREE.

"Empty Gun" Kills Man At Alliance

ALLIANCE, Sept. 24.—Believed to have been shot by an "empty gun," the lifeless body of J. Clyde Smith, aged 28, assistant manager of the Ohio Public Service Co., and secretary of the Alliance Park Commission, was found in the basement of his home at 273 West Market street.

Robert Purcell, a close friend, was on the first floor of the Smith home when he heard the shot. A .22 caliber repeating rifle was found in a vice where Smith had apparently been cleaning it preparatory to taking a squirrel hunting trip Tuesday. The bullet struck him in the left breast killing him almost instantly.

HIT AND RUN DRIVER SOUGHT IN GIRL'S DEATH

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 24.—Six year old Eileen Steele is dead. The little daughter of Mr. Plan, who was knocked down and run over by a hit and run driver on the highway near the North Star school house, died two hours after she was taken to the Ellwood hospital yesterday afternoon by Wayne Craz and Mrs. John Swick to whose home the child was taken first.

Mother Worried
Mrs. Steele waited for her daughter who usually came home from school before noon. As minutes passed, she was nearly frantic with worry. Her married daughter, Mrs. Oscar Sterquist went to the grocery store and there she learned that a child had been hit on the highway and had been removed to the hospital.

Returning home she broke the news. Mrs. Steele called her neighbor only to learn that little Martha Kimmel had taken her lunch and would not be returning with Eileen over the field as usual. Was the child taken to the hospital her daughter? She did not know.

Other children had stayed for lunch at school on account of rain clouds. No one had seen the little girl with the brown checked dress. Then Mrs. Swick returned and upon learning that Mrs. Steele's little daughter had not returned, knew at once that it had been Eileen that she had assisted in taking to the hospital, and said so.

No one is known to have seen the accident. Several state that they saw a certain car with Ohio license traveling at a fast rate of speed going in the direction of Ellwood City, about noon, but no one is certain.

The little girl had left the school house and instead of following the usual course across the field which she generally took with her little playmate, she started down the highway, alone.

Name Unfinished
When she was found several moments later her skull was fractured and her face badly bruised. Beside her outlying hand was a piece of white chalk, and not far away was her unfinished name, the letters "E-I-L" she had not been given an opportunity to finish its spelling. The chalk had been knocked from her hand.

There are seven other brothers and sisters in this home which death has marked with sorrow. The father has had very little work during the last few months and had been working only several days since this new tragedy came into their life.

Other sisters and brothers of the deceased are Mrs. Sterquist, Audley, Faith, Lorenzo, Warren, Raymond and Eugene.
The funeral service is to be conducted at the home of Knox Plan with Rev. Robert Bell and Rev. Harry D. K. Huber in charge. Interment will be made in the Lilyville Lutheran cemetery.

Leadership School For Training Is Planned At Dinner

Rev. Francis R. Casselman Of Butler Tells Of Training Children, Suggests Plan

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 25.—Plans were formed at the rally dinner of those interested in religious education held in the M. E. church last night for a leadership training school to be conducted in Ellwood and Butler alternating nights, two weeks early in January.

Forty were present at the dinner last night and great enthusiasm was shown for the winter program. Each of the following churches were represented: Church of God, First Presbyterian, Trinity Lutheran, First Methodist Episcopal, United Presbyterian and First Baptist.

Reports were given by LaVerne Bauder, Mildred George, Mrs. Norman Mortensen, Mrs. L. C. Barnhardt, Grace Brown, C. A. Martin and Prof. W. Ray Smith.

The speaker of the evening, Rev. Francis R. Casselman of Butler, spoke of three possible ways of training children. He mentioned the imparting of knowledge as one way which did not always work out satisfactorily.

The experimental way was another as suggested, which allowed the pupils to work out their own solutions and problems. Without the background of previous knowledge, Rev. Casselman said that this was bad for small children who should be guided by someone who was a responsible person.

General Committee Hostesses At Bridge Tea In Country Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 24.—Members of the general committee arranging the parties at the Ellwood Country club for the season will be hostesses to the club members who took a part in the parties tomorrow afternoon at a bridge tea.

The women will begin playing at 2 o'clock and plans are being made for a good attendance at this party, the final one before the new winter program is announced.

Mrs. Thompson, general chairman of the committee, announced that lovely gifts have been purchased and arrangements are under way to make this the most successful party of the entire season.

Local Kiwanians Attend Erie Ball

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 24.—A large aggregation from the Ellwood City Kiwanis club assembled for the dinner in the Masonic building of Erie last night, a part of the elaborate program mapped out for the convention of 114 clubs from over the state of Pennsylvania.

Eight hundred were in attendance at this banquet. Ellwood was represented by 14 members and wives who were privileged in hearing the greeting given by the International president, R. H. Crossman who was present with his wife from Omaha.

Later in the evening the party assembled in the ball room for dancing. From Ellwood there were: Dr. H. E. Helling, Mrs. Helling, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McGlymonds, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Springer, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Sweitzer, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mattocks, C. W. Carbeau and G. B. Hancher, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McLaughlin.

At a later hour the evening was spent in dancing in the Pozzuto home. Guests from Ellwood City and New Castle attended the event.

Ellwood Hopes To Beat Union

Ellwood City High Team Is Ready For Battle Saturday With Union High School

INGLE PLEASED WITH OUTLOOK

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Sept. 24.—With only a few days left before the opening contest Ellwood City high gridgers are making preparations to clash with Union high of New Castle. The Lawrence county crew opened their season last Friday by defeating Zeiglenope and hope to give the Ingle men a tough battle.

This is the first time that the Union crew has stepped out of their class and hope to make a strong impression against the Tubers. Ellwood's team is not yet definitely chosen but the following positions seem more or less enmeshed: Sam Neff, the only veteran from last year's eleven, will hold down one end job while Zeigler and Cavalier will fight it out for the other wing. Joe Welsh and Vogt will undoubtedly be the tackles, while Rossman holds a guard post and the other guard position is between Mazzant and Elmer McKim.

In the backfield we find Dick Wilson at quarter, Frisk and Sheeler at the halves and Cunningham at full-back. Frisk and Cunningham seem to be the best line plungers while Neff and Sheeler are best at receiving the passes.

A short scrimmage was held yesterday and the most of the next few days will probably be spent in light workouts, consisting of signal practice and dummy scrimmage.

Ingle and his two assistants, Lloyd and Ralston, are pleased with the developing of the new blue and white machine and hope to take over Union high in the opening battle.

Rocco To Fight Tuffy Griffiths In Detroit Ring

Ellwood City Heavyweight Faces Toughest Foe Of Career In Sioux City Scrapper

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 24.—Emmett Rocco, Ellwood City's high powered heavyweight will face one of the biggest tests of his fistic career on Monday night when he clashes with Tuffy Griffiths at Detroit, Mich. Rocco left last night and with him was Tony Zill, brother of Al Zill, who is Emmett's manager.

One of the biggest features of the bout is the appearance of Jack Dempsey, who will act as referee. The event will be an open air affair staged at the Detroit fair grounds.

Birthday Party For E. D. Hank

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 24.—Honoring the birthday of E. D. Hank of Moravia stop, a number of friends gathered at his home and surprised him Saturday night, to celebrate the occasion. Following a marshmallow and wiener roast the party assembled in the home to enjoy games and music which was furnished by Elmer Moyer.

Enjoying the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Ray St. John and son Francis, Mr. and Mrs. William McConahy and son Charley, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur McConahy and son Billy, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. St. John and children Clair, Leona and Ruth Evelyn, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Stewart, Mrs. J. C. Houk, Mr. and Mrs. Conard Houk, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Moyer, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Moyer, Charley Hill, Mrs. E. L. Houk, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Yoho and son Wayne, Harry St. John, Helen Houk, Irene Stivers, Margaret McConahy, Helen Hill, Robert Houk, Carl Houk and the honor guest, E. L. Houk.

Organize Orchestra For Future Dances

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 24.—A number of young men in Ellwood have found an interesting way in which to spend an evening. Armed with snare drums, saxophone, violin, banjo and any instrument they are to be seen most evenings gathering at a chosen home, where they spend the evening in practice.

In the group are: Clare Kirker, Frank Rhodeberger, Jack Shirling, Edward Sweitzer and Louis Majors.

BABY DIES

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 24.—Nancy Paskine Capone, 5 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Capone of 1127 Crescent avenue, died Tuesday afternoon.

Besides the parents there are six other children in the family.

Funeral services will be conducted in the Italian Catholic church at 11:30 Thursday morning. Interment will be made in the St. Agatha cemetery.

Mrs. Dewitt Sarver of Ellwood avenue suffered a painful injury on Monday when she caught her arm in the electric wringer washing. Doctor services were required and the local woman is confined at home with a badly swollen and discolored arm.

Fixing Grant Street Driveways

Employees of Woods & Golder have commenced fixing several driveways and the St. Paul's church's curb in Grant street.
After the firm repaved Grant street, council was told the driveways had been left too steep for winter travel.

The sidewalk at St. Paul's church was left about two feet higher than the curb.
Council has ordered an extra step between the curb and sidewalk at the church.

GO ON HOME

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

3. Daniel Boone—His Marriage

IN 1752, WHEN DANIEL BOONE WAS EIGHTEEN, HIS FATHER SOLD HIS FARM AT EXETER, PENNSYLVANIA, AND MIGRATED WITH HIS FAMILY TO NORTH CAROLINA, SETTLING AT HOLMAN'S FORD ON THE YADKIN RIVER, EIGHT MILES FROM THE LITTLE BACKWOODS VILLAGE OF WILKESBORO.

THERE WAS MUCH WORK TO BE DONE TO GET THE NEW FARM IN GOOD ORDER, BUT DANIEL FOUND TIME FOR HUNTING — AND ROMANCE. NOT LONG AFTER COMING TO THE YADKIN, YOUNG BOONE WAS DEEPLY SMITTEN WITH REBECCA BRYAN, ONE OF THE BELLES OF THE NEIGHBORHOOD.

IT IS SAID DANIEL FIRST MET REBECCA WHILE HUNTING. SEEING SOMETHING MOVING IN THE BUSHES, THE YOUTH, THINKING IT WAS A DEER, HAD RAISED HIS GUN TO FIRE, WHEN THE GIRL STEPPED FORTH, AND DANIEL SAW HIS MISTAKE JUST IN TIME TO AVOID A TRAGEDY.

THREE YEARS LATER REBECCA BRYAN BECAME THE WIFE OF DANIEL BOONE. THE NUPTIALS WERE CELEBRATED WITH A BIG FEAST AND BOISTEROUS BACKWOODS GAMES AND DANCES. THE HAPPY PAIR WENT TO LIVE ON A LITTLE FARM OF THEIR OWN.

Sharkey Ready For Campolo In Fight Thursday

Jack Sharkey Is Ready And Waiting For Battle With Campolo Thursday

BOSTON SLUGGER PHYSICALLY FIT

By HYPE IGGE
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Jack Sharkey is all fit and ready to go. He has maintained that was his condition right along, and now the doctors of the boxing commission have put the final O. K. on Jacques of Boston.

So nothing but an earthquake, a hurricane or a cloudburst can stop Jack from trying to make good his promise of knocking out Victorio Campolo in the Yankee stadium on Thursday night in five rounds.

It didn't seem like the old blustering Sharkey who submitted to that physical examination yesterday afternoon, as per orders of our noble boxing commission. Jack was complacent, obliging, and answered questions without putting on the old sneer.

The doctors rounded up Jack into a room, made him strip and do highland flings and everything, and Jack was just as obliging as a trained puppy. Then they put their stethoscopes and bloodpressure machine on the robust and pudgy muscles of the American heavyweight champion.

Made him say "Ah-h-h" and thumped his sides and his tummy, and when they got through with the 20-minute examination, called the newspaper boys in and put their O. K. on the Boston man.

"There is no reason why Sharkey cannot put up the best fight of his life," said Dr. Joseph Baldwin. "Sharkey is physically perfect and there isn't a physical defect in his make-up."

Ohio State Will Bear Watching In Big Ten Contests

Coach Willaman Has Shifted Wesley Fesler To Backfield Post

Ohio State Team Composed Of Sophomores, Very Few Veterans

By LEO FISCHER
International News Service Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 24.—In shadow of the huge Ohio State Memorial Stadium, there is a football machine being welded together that is likely to be the surprise of the 1930 Big Ten campaign.

It is a team of mystery, composed mainly of sophomores who have yet to be tried out in conference competition. Nevertheless, the basis of a great gridiron team is there, and given an even break in luck, it would not surprise us to see Coach Sam Willaman's aggregation cut a wide swath in this year's title race.

Ordinarily a coach would be somewhat disheartened by the loss of practically his entire first string lineup through graduation and ineligibility. Not Willaman, however. One might even say he feels relieved to know that he no longer has to worry about the "prima donnas" and fraternity squabbles who have ruined the morals of the squad for at least three years past.

Fesler In Backfield
One of the most startling experiments attempted by the coach is the shifting of Wesley Fesler, two-time all-American end, to halfback. The chances are that he will stay there, too, for in scrimmage he has shown a speed and shiftness that may earn him all-star recognition in still another capacity.

Stuart Holcomb, at fullback, will probably be the only one of last year's backfield quartet to play back of the line with Fesler. The other positions on the first team apparently will go to a couple of sophomores—Martin Varner and Olavi Sola. Both weigh around 190 pounds. The most likely backfield reserves will also be sophomores.

Chief among them being Jack Greenberg, Paul Hodnick, Russell Embrey, Robert Bauer, William Carroll, David Chizek, and Lew Hinchman, the latter a brother of Bill Hinchman.

All are big rangy boys with lots of speed. They are especially well-built to fit in with Willaman's new system of play, in which he is planning to employ wingbacks and a more varied running attack.

At least three sophomores will fill out the Ohio line. They are Baumgarten, 200 pound tackle; Wingert, 195-pound guard, and Jhrensberger, 187-pound center. Bill Larkins, a tackle for two years and a mighty good one, is being moved to the ends.

Cardinals Need Two More Games To Clinch Flag

St. Louis Team Can Win Pennant By Beating Pirates Two Out Of Four Games

CHICAGO CUBS STILL IN RACE

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The St. Louis Cardinals today reached out and wrapped their long fingers around the National League bunting, something in fashion of a sea-roving octopus snatching up a 12-course dinner.

They downed the Phillies again, 19 to 16, setting a seasonal league record as they rocked four Philly hurriers for 26 blows. The Cardinals now have only to snatch two more game and the barn door is locked.

Both the Cards and Cubs have four more games to play. The Cubs can win if they take all four, should the Cardinals break a leg and fail in three. The Cubs cannot lose a single game and cop and any day that the Bruins fail and St. Louis wins, the old rag will be floating down there in Missouri skies.

The Giants went into a virtual tie with the sad Robins for third place, setting back Brooklyn 8 to 2. Dazzy Vance was not his old self and his support was worse than ragged. Fitzsimmons sent the flock away with only six bingles.

Jackie May and Ken Ash hurled the Reds to a twin triumph over the Pirates, 3 to 0, and 5 to 2. Nick Cullop, former home run king of the American Association, continued his prowess in big time circles, clouting one of the longest homers on record in Forbes Field for the Reds in the opening game.

Joe McCarthy May Land New Berth

Pittsburgh And New York Yankees Said To Be Dickering For Deposed Cub Leader

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Now that Joe McCarthy is definitely through as manager of the Cubs, baseball gossipers today were trying to place him with another major league club.

It appears that New York and Pittsburgh are spots where McCarthy might find employment. However, efforts to make Colonel Jake Ruppert of the Yankees and Barney Dreyfus of the Pirates say they would like to sign the erstwhile Bruin boss have met with failure.

Franklin Grid Card Announced

Junior High Team Will Play Eight Games; First Contest On September 29

Benjamin Franklin Junior High school football team will play eight games this season, according to Coach Emmett Gillespie who has arranged the schedule. Daily at Taggart Field the prospects for positions on the Franklin eleven are training in preparation for the opening contest which will bring Franklin against Union high, second team at Union High on September 29.

The 1930 grid schedule follows:
Monday, September 29, Franklin versus Union (second team) (away).
Friday, October 3, Franklin versus Ellwood, second team (away).
Friday, October 10, Franklin versus Sophomore (Taggart Field).
Wednesday, October 15, Franklin versus New Wilmington, second team, (Taggart Field).
Friday, October 20, Franklin versus Washington Junior High (away).
Friday, October 24, Franklin versus Juniors (Taggart Field).
Thursday, October 30, Franklin versus Union second team (pending).
Friday, November 7, Franklin versus Juniors Taggart Field.
Friday, November 14, Franklin versus Ellwood City, second team (Taggart Field).

The following gridgers so far have made a good showing in practices of late: Thomas, ends Pegnato, Scarazzo, tackles, Raskowski, Nickum and Giamani.

Guards, Molsko and McKee; center Kominc; quarterbacks Ezzo, Kner-van, Campbell; fullback, Boazzo, McCarell.

Hornsby As New Manager Will Use Axe Quite Freely

No Secret That Rogers Hornsby Will Start Weeding Out Cubs Next Season

WILL BE GIVEN OFFICIAL BACKING

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Rogers Hornsby, star second baseman who succeeds Joe McCarthy as manager of the Chicago Cubs, today talked of his plans for the Chicago club in 1931.

Hornsby's remarks on arriving here last night from the east, with the club indicated that there will be changes in the Cubs' personnel, some of them surprising. Not only the inefficient but some of the stars as well are in for the weeding out process, according to indications.

Some rumors settled about Hack Wilson, the 1930 home run king, in which it was said that Wilson was due for a change of scenery. This Hornsby emphatically denied. There is more than a suspicion, according to authorities, that four members of the club, Hack Wilson, Gabby Hartnett, Kiki Cuyler and Charley Grimm, view Hornsby's nomination with some hostility. They form the club's backbone. Fans were eagerly awaiting developments, if any, on this matter.

Deep Plays Last Grid Game Friday

George Deep Veteran Will Be Ineligible Following Grove City Contest

Friday night's football game in which New Castle plays Grove City will find the local high school losing another veteran and a valuable player. George Deep, for the past three years a member of the red and black eleven, will be ineligible due to his age following the Grove City contest. For the past two years he has seen action as a member of the first team and this year due to the fact that he had only two games to play wasn't given much consideration. He plays guard or tackle. He will be graduated from the local high school in January.

Bobby Jones Faces Amateur Test Today

C. Ross Somerville, Canadian Champ, Meets Jones In Amateur Match

If Jones Can Survive Today He Is Expected To Win Fourth Title

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24.—So far as a certain Mr. Jones is concerned, the National Amateur golf championship virtually will be decided at Merion Cricket Club today.

If he gets by those two eighteen hole matches that are on the program for the eight hours about to ensue, then he will be pointed downhill with all four wheels goosy with grease and a fresh wind blowing against his broad back.

Moreover, a number of men, young and old, who have been waiting to cash those so-called 50 to 1 wagers reported to have been made on his winning the four major golf championships of the year, will be dancing in the streets and thumping their grannies on the back, if any.

Must Win Today
This Mr. Jones must win two of those batted matches today to get into the thirty-six hole catch-as-catch-can, hit where you please jousts where he is in a class by himself and where he has sustained but one defeat in the last six years. Once he coasts into the double round business, which begins on Thursday, there won't be any more to it, or, to say the least, not much.

Mr. Jones never has had a fancy for this eighteen hole business. It isn't the sort of thing the better golfers relish. Too many accidents can happen in that short time. Witness the pain that came into his life last year when Young Johnny Goodman of Omaha thrus his sandy skull up over the shoulders of his mates and laid Mr. Jones low in the very first round of play.

The Atlantan isn't meeting any pushover in his first round today. Mr. C. Ross Somerville of Canada never would be picked as an opponent for Primo Carnera if he were a box fighting man. He has been the Canadian amateur champion at least three times and he has beaten some pretty fancy golfers, American and otherwise, in winning these championships. Also, he has had plenty of experience over the eighteen hole course, since they fancy that sort of thing in Canada.

Somerville Is Good
If he wins over Somerville, which isn't the surest thing in the world he will have to meet either another Canadian, F. E. Hoblitzell, or the veteran Ellis Knowles, both likewise skilled at the eighteen hole game. Your correspondent isn't wholly familiar with the virtues of Mr. Hoblitzell, but he does know that Mr. Knowles, a semi-finalist in this amateur championship 26 years ago, has had much eighteen hole experience around New York and is a serious fighter who's hard to shave under any circumstances.

Thus Mr. Jones faces his problem. If he fails to get through today his dream of having won the four major titles in one year, quite naturally will have been destroyed. If he does get by these matches, stopping him will be next to an impossibility. Mr. Jones can spot anyone in the world three or four holes over a thirty six hole match and shakedown them, but he can't spot very many golfers that many holes over the end is reached. Nor can anyone else, for that matter.

Campolo Fit For Battle Thursday

(International News Service)
ORANGEBURG, N. Y., Sept. 24.—The huge gentleman from Argentine, Senor Victorio Maria Campolo, today counted the hours before his meeting with Jack Sharkey at the Yankee stadium tomorrow night in the Navy and Marine memorial fund show, but not with any feeling of insecurity.

Campolo's body attack, because of his natural ability to pound the mid-section of his foes, was featured in his training. It is this attack which Campolo's adherents believe will furnish Sharkey with the greatest trouble.

For Campolo now no longer swings wildly as was once his wont. His punches are piston-like jolts which carry the power behind his huge frame.

Bessemer Meets Lowellville Team

Coach Fredericks Has Letter-men On 135 Pound Eleven

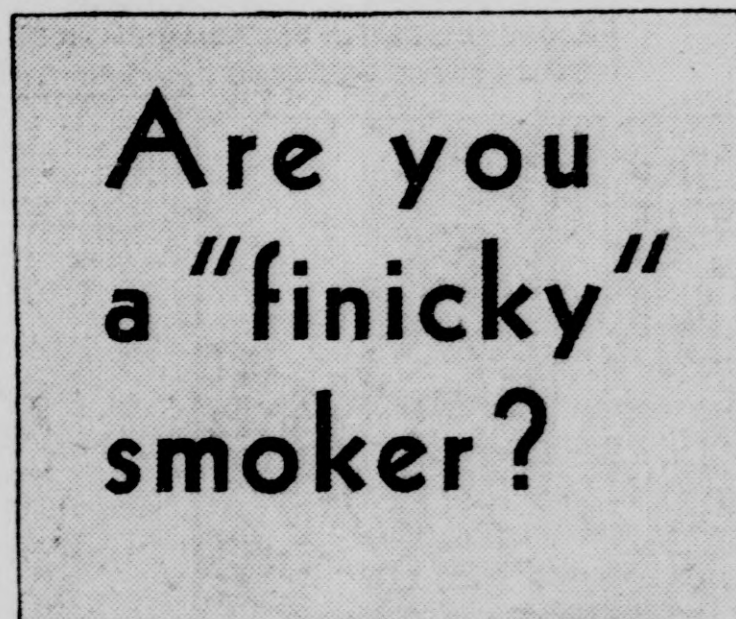

HOPES TO RETAIN CLASS B TROPHY

Bessemer is all set up over the coming football clash, Saturday, with Lowellville which will be the opening game of the season. Bessemer took the Tri-B school title last year and with six lettermen of last year in the lineup Coach Fredericks hopes to either retain the trophy or be one of the runners-up.

Daily Coach Fredericks is pushing the team and though it will not average over 135 pounds he believes that what the aggregation lacks in weight will be made up in speed. The team is being moulded around Grist, Stanley, Stanish, Terec, De Cerbo and Afric and he has material that gives him reason to believe that Bessemer will cut a good path in opposing lines this fall.

He will not make any decision as to who will start in the backfield against Lowellville Saturday but it looks as though Stanley will call signals. Grist, Puromaki and Simonza have been showing up well in the backfield and according to reports they will be in the game when the whistle sounds for the kickoff.

Westminster Prepares For Opening Grid Game

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 24.—In training since Sept. 2, Coach "Dike" Beede's Westminster College football team is tapering off its drills in preparation for the opening game of the season here on Saturday (Sept. 27) against Edinboro State Teachers' College.

On Friday and Saturday afternoons of last week the Titans had two strenuous scrimmage sessions to get them set for the invasion by the veteran Scarlet and White team. With few injuries of any account and with some excellent first-string and reserve material, the Westminster team should look good in the opening tilt.

Picture 1 shows the Titans in a scrimmage session in preparation for the opening game. Picture 2 shows the squad, decked in the new white and blue uniforms. Picture 3 is Coach "Dike" Beede, former Carnegie Tech captain and fullback, who is in his fifth year as coach of the United Presbyterian team.

Elmo And Warren Were Original Fistic Stars

They Didn't Have Much Science But They Knew How To Please

It is doubtful if ever there were two more popular pugilistic clowns in the country than Elmo the Mighty and Warren Farrow the Tarsap Kid, who have amused 50,000 or more souls in bouts here and other nearby cities.

Elmo got his start at the old Armory and when boxing graduated into the Jolly bowl Elmo's supremacy was questioned by Warren and within a short time fans gazed upon two of the most comical heavyweights in the ring.

Elmo, open-mouthed, straddle-legged and with eyes popping defiance caused many opponents to fear his kick but Warren, who hit where he wasn't looking was tough, game and had an inimitable way of keeping Elmo fighting.

Well Known Hereabouts As they fought here, there and elsewhere their tricks became known to each other and they fought "dead heats." They came into demand and as salesmen of fistic hippodroming they were high pressure artists in black and white.

Elmo hovers around the 40 year old mark while the Tarsap Kid is just a kid. Warren tips the beams at 195 pounds and likes to fight. Age hasn't cut down Elmo's punch but it has slowed his legs but they're pleasant performers.

In fact, Elmo the Mighty and the Tarsap Kid belong in the same ranks as the Gold Dust Twins who grew from flyweights into heavyweights and now draw lots of coin for doing their act fast, furious and often. The Jolly bowl is no more but were one to look around and ask the question "Who made the bowl?" he would have to toss in a compliment for Elmo and Warren as having helped. They never appeared unless they drew a big laugh.

The matchmaker who tossed Elmo and Warren into the ring as opponents realized their dollar-drawing ability and followed the circus man's habit of sending out the hippodromers to put the crowd in good humor. Elmo once saved the preliminaries at the bowl after he had been on "strike." He had asked for more money as a performer, which was deemed exorbitant and as a result was "jes' layin' around, doing nuthin' as Farrow would say it.

One Monday night everything went wrong with the prelims, and consternation reigned when it was found that a big heavyweight from Toledo, instead of coming to New Castle, Pa., had gone to New Castle, Ind., mistaking the right city.

Elmo and Warren were in the rear-guard of the fans chortling their woes when the matchmaker approached them and said: "Hey, you boozes, is that strike on or off?"

Never Missed Golden They straightened like mushrooms in a field and both yelled in unison: "What strike? We've been locked out." Within a few moments their clothes were off, rings tossed, their frames and they were in the ring. The announcer fully expected to be crowned with raspberries when the

Mandell-Singer May Fight Again

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Nate Lewis, Chicago stadium matchmaker, announced today that he has the verbal agreement of both Sammy Mandell, deposed lightweight champion, and Al Singer, Mandell's successor to the crown, for a catchweight bout October 14.

Lewis said he hopes to have their signed contracts within a few days. The title will not be at stake.

Mandell will enter the ring a favorite over Tommy Herman Friday night. It was indicated today as they polished off training for his comeback title.

Pirates Drop Double-Header

Effective Pitching By May And Ash Downs Pirates

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 24.—Cincinnati presented the Pirates with a twin defeat yesterday, capturing the opener 8 to 0 and winning the last encounter 5 to 2. Effective pitching beat the Pirates.

In the first game the Pirates got three hits off Jake May while 14 were registered off Spencer and Bednar. In the nightcap Ash allowed six safeties and 11 were chalked off Wood.

McCullough Wins Fourteen Games

Participates In 66 Games Which Sets New Mark For Minneapolis Hurlers

Paul McCullough, local pitcher, who has been hurling for Minneapolis in the American Association, set a new mark this year, having played in 66 games, whereas the best record of any other hurler was 64 games. Minneapolis won fourth place and Paul hurled the game that beat Milwaukee and put Minneapolis at the top of the second division.

McCullough actually, however, won 14 and lost 11 games.

He doesn't know if he will remain with Minneapolis or go up to the "big show". Paul stated yesterday in furnishing the statistics that had Mike Kelly had the same team at the start of the year as he had at the finish it is probable Minneapolis would have finished farther up the column.

Slippery Rock Trains For Duquesne Game

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Sept. 24.—A convincing victory over Waynesburg Saturday was no reason for a holiday for local college gridders and Coach Kerr Thompson had his teacher eleven hard at work today for the all important game with Duquesne.

Despite the fact that Slippery Rock pulled the surprise of the early season, Coach Thompson believes that his outfit showed many weaknesses. He plans to work hard this week on offensive play as this department failed to develop the driving power expected.

Substitutes will be given a chance to show their worth in practice sessions, and it is likely that one or two shifts will be made prior to the game at Pittsburgh Friday night. Outstanding in the play at Waynesburg was the work of Miles and Wilson at the tackles. They, with Taylor, veteran guard, provided the real defensive part of the local machine, and the coaches are hoping that this will be continued against Layden's team.

Schultz, New Castle boy, and Ralston, Slippery Rock, showed especially well Saturday when substituted at the guard position. It is possible that they will get the starting assignment this week if Flister does not recover rapidly from a leg injury. Captain Heney Ott was in uniform today after a month's illness, and plans to take part in a portion of the game against the Dukes. His presence will bolster the play of Slippery Rock ends, and provide a veteran defense for the slants of Benedict and Doggo Burns.

Three Regulars Out Of Practice

McAuley, De Carbo And Jamison Not In Scrimmage Tuesday

ALL TO BE READY FOR FRIDAY NIGHT

New Castle high school football team which is preparing for the second game of the 1930 season which will bring them against Grove City high on Friday night at Taggart field was sent through a long and strenuous workout on Tuesday afternoon.

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh had his warriors drill mostly on line plunges and passes on Tuesday.

The first team, minus the services of Captain McAuley, Mike DeCarbo and Robert Jamison, opposed the second stringers in a scrimmage. Captain McAuley and DeCarbo are on the casualty list. McAuley is suffering with a cut across his right eye while DeCarbo is nursing a strained nerve in his right arm.

These two will be in condition to oppose Grove City, it is expected. Robert Jamison did not report for Tuesday's rehearsal. Fred Fabian showed some improvement over last Friday night in hitting the line against the second team. In nearly every attempt he made nice gains. If you think the second team hasn't a big line, go up to Taggart field some night and look them over.

With James Mike and Charles Scheppe tipping the beam at 200 or a little better and several other huskies, one can easily see that the second team is a good size.

Dick Thomas also made a good showing in the workout Tuesday. The first team saw several new faces. Nick Uram was calling signals, William Ciccone replaced Jamison at left end and Workman occupied the guard post left vacant by DeCarbo for a day or two. The other positions were occupied by the regular varsity men. Lasky and Thomas at half-back.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Dyed-in-the-wool fanciers of Fighting Irish will motor to Idora park tomorrow night to see Joe Goodman clash with Harry Brown.

Bobby Jones topped the field at Merion yesterday with a card of 124, which tied the 1924 mark. He is in crown now of the national amateur circuit.

Hanover Bertha at Lexington yesterday set a new record for 3 year old trotters and won the Kentucky Futurity in two minutes and will get $8,000.

A little orange juice would also improve the kind of oranges we have been buying lately.

Shaffer-Myler Candidates On Titan Eleven

Glenn Shaffer, Former New Castle High "Protest Star" On Westminster Team

CHARLES MYLER IS OUT FOR END

New Castle is going to be more than interested in the Westminster college football team this year. Two former New Castle High stars, are matriculating at the New Westminster school and both rate high in grid circles. They are Glenn Shaffer and Charles Myler.

Shaffer it will be remembered is the youngster whose residential status two years ago caused the Beaver Falls High school football team to protest his playing with New Castle High school grid team, and also resulted in the W. P. I. A. L. committee declaring New Castle High ineligible for league competition for the period of one year. Shaffer played a sub-quarterback role here in the game that New Castle trounced the Fallons.

Dependable Back Last year Shaffer played a backfield position on the Princeton Illinois High team, and was graduated in June. He is now enrolled as a freshman at Westminster and Coach Dyke Beede has gained a clever backfield artist. While here Shaffer was a very dependable back and could also pass and kick. It would not be surprising if the youth breaks into a lot of games for Westminster this fall.

The other boy Charles Myler is giving the end candidates at Westminster a tough battle for a varsity job. It is a very hard thing to displace Tweedy, a veteran of two years. Meider a new comer is showing up well and has the other end job well in control, but Myler is going to be heard from. He is a former New Castle High lineman, playing here on the local team two years ago.

Both Shaffer and Myler may get a chance to show their wares in the opening game of the year against Edinboro Teachers' College. The game is to be played at New Wilmington.

Slippery Rock To Oppose Shenango On Home Grounds

Shenango high school's football season will be inaugurated Saturday, September 27, when Slippery Rock high school brings its team here to test the township gridders in their opening tussle of the year. The kickoff occurs at 2 o'clock.

The season's schedule for Shenango follows:
October 3, New Wilmington, at home.
October 10, Freedom, away.
October 17, Mercer, away.
October 24, Bessemer, away.
November 1, open.
November 7, Union, at home.
November 14, open.

Gridiron Gossip

Coach "Dike" Beede, is not letting up on the Westminster football candidates one bit. Each afternoon they are called out at 3 o'clock and for two hours or more they go through strenuous tactics that will put them in the "pink" for the Edinboro game on Saturday. The Titans are desirous of making a healthy showing in the first set, and by the spirit being shown at the practice sessions, the Teachers are in for a tough afternoon.

Up at Grove City College Coach Berry has reduced his squad to some 27 men and is giving them a lot of attention this week for the opening game Saturday with Morris-Harvey. Little is known just how strong the West Virginia team is this year, but Berry is taking no chances and is driving the boys at top speed. Art Alexander, former New Castle boy may break into the lineup in the initial game due to his uncanny forward passing ability.

Down in Beaver Falls, Coach Howard Harper is having a lot of trouble trying to keep his Geneva charges in check. Since their runaway score in the first game of the year with St. Vincent's, the Covenanters are of the opinion that they are unbeatable and to hear Harper tell it, they are far from that way. Bucknell with a veteran outfit will give the Geneva team a lot of keen opposition in their battle this coming Saturday. Knapp is being groomed as the big triple threat man of the Geneva club.

Pitt generally has one outstanding star each year, Gibby Welch, Toby Usana and now it is destined to be Eddie Baker, a boy hailing from the Eastern section of the state. Baker is a triple threat man this year, being able to run with the ball, kick and pass. Much of the offensive drive of the Pitt team is centered around this youngster. Reider, Heller and Brown continue to fight for that open halfback berth, and anyone of the Sophomore backs is liable to get the nod Saturday for the Waynesburg fuss.

Carnegie Tech coaches will be engaged the next few days in looking over the varsity material for a few tackles. Stauffer, Myslenki, and Burns, all leading tackle candidates were declared ineligible for football due to scholastic standings in examinations. The job of picking out three new tackles is going to be a gigantic one. The Tech football team goes to Buffalo this week for a game with Buffalo University.

Coach Elmer Layden is far from pleased with the showing made by his charges in the first game with West Virginia has been putting the boys through tough paces this week, in preparation for the Slippery Rock game at Pittsburgh on Saturday afternoon. The rough places on the line and backfield will be smoothed out by the end of the week and the Dukes hope to click against the Teachers.

Bethany and W. & J. mix this week, at Washington, and the gridders of both schools are being pointed for the occasion. Coach Ames of W. & J. has a fine looking squad at work over in Washington, while down in Bethany, West Virginia, the Bisons are going through their preparation under the careful eye of Coaches Knight and Shoemaker. Maury Rush is going to be the threat man at W. & J. again this fall. Westminster comes next for the Presidents.

Wheat Prices Are Lowest In Years

Wheat Market In Chicago Limp Along Today Nearly Demoralized

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Nearly demoralized, the wheat market limped along today at near-record low prices while the business conduct committee of the board of trade began its second investigation of Russian activities in the wheat market here. Upon receipt of definite information of Soviet activities requested from the department of agriculture the board of trade committee planned its second session here. Traders believed to have placed the short sales for the Russian government are expected to be called before the committee today or tomorrow to explain what was behind the move.

Fresh rumors concerning the short sales brought wheat prices to the lowest level in twenty four years here yesterday. September wheat touched bottom at 77 7/8 cent.

"I'll bet "Sometimes," confided Mrs. Still-weed to her intimate friend, "I think my husband is the patientest, gentlest, best-natured man that ever lived!" "I think I think it's mere laziness!"—Exchange.

Third Base

STREET 440 FRISCH AND ADAMS PLAYING SECOND AND THIRD ALTERNATELY BEFORE PLANTING ADAMS PERMANENTLY AT THE HOT CORNER.

JIMMY DYKES, CONNIE MACK'S VERSATILE STAR, HAS THE EDGE OVER HIS RIVALS ON THE DEFENSE.

ANDY AIGH'S PINCH-HITTING HAS BEEN A SENSATION IN THE CARDS' LATE SPURT.

The Athletics and Cardinals are fairly well matched around third base with the St. Louis Red Birds probably holding whatever "edge" there is.

Connie Mack will depend on Jimmy Dykes, a capable veteran but not the best third baseman in his league, to guard the far corner of the infield during the series. Gabby Street has Andy High and Sparky Adams.

Dykes has played third all season but High has been at the past for a little over a month. Street has also used Frankie Frisch and Sparky Adams at the sack.

Dyke's fielding average, despite his much longer service, is almost as high as that of Andy and he has been hitting the ball better. However, the Cardinals may use Adams, a better hitter than Dykes, at third—if they get into the series—and this reserve strength gives the Red Birds the edge.

The Cubs, now almost a forlorn hope can choose for third baseman between the capable Woody English and Les Bell, who has returned after a long layoff.

Tomorrow: Shortstop.

The lowest-priced QUALITY tire

These big, sturdy tires, extra built to meet the exacting demands of modern driving conditions, are the kind of tires we like to sell.

First, because their low price brings buyers into our store.

Second, because these buyers get so much more tire than they expected that

Rally Continues In Stock Market Today

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Good news from the Steel industry and more cheerful reports from the heads of American business helped to keep the rally in industrial stocks and Utilities in motion in the early trading today. United States Steel pushed ahead to 16 1/2 as Steel Mills' operations showed a 3 per cent expansion, and American Can at 126 1/2 was up 6 points from yesterday's low price.

Heads of prominent Motor, Mercantile and manufacturing companies submitted evidence which proved to their satisfaction that the depression had passed, and that the turn in the business tide had come. A 3 per cent increase in Steel Mills' operations increased the industry to 61 per cent of capacity, against 58 per cent last week and 52 per cent a few weeks ago.

On the whole, the market was dull and narrow, with professional juggling of the leading stocks accounting for most of the activity. Anaconda Copper was again under pressure and sold off 1 1/2 at 41 1/2; Vanadium was pounded back to 77 1/2 for a 3-point loss in the second hour. Consolidated Gas led a moderate recovery in the Utility group and the Standard Oils regained most of yesterday's lost ground.

Wheat and Corn slumped off again in all of the important grain markets, while Cotton rallied about 50 cents a bale. No further losses were recorded in the local commodity markets and call money was unchanged at 2 per cent.

You're the JUDGE

The court held against Mr. Hicks. The judges reasoned thus: If the vessel merely how into the harbor before the expiration of the hour of the contract, she can't be said to have arrived. A vessel is coming in until it is moored. She may sink or take fire and fall to and her cargo. She must actually come to anchor before it can be said that she has arrived.

Bishop Cannon Quits Brazil, Home Bound

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., against whom new sensational charges have been leveled by a board of inquiry in his own Methodist Episcopal Church South. The charges, contained in a report made by four traveling elders, have been forwarded to Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, of Atlanta, Ga. Bishop Cannon has left Brazil and is on his way back home.

ETTA KETT

HOT HEARTS/ETTA PROMISED TO BE AT THE TRAIN TO SEE ME OFF TO SCHOOL. PARTING IS GOING TO BE SUCH SWEET SORROW.

GEE, I WISH BUDDY WOULD HURRY UP!

HELLO TED—KEEP AN EYE ON THESE BAGS—WHILE I RUN A TICKET—HAVE YOU SEEN ETTA?

YEAH—SHE WAS HERE A FEW MINUTES AGO—

—BUT I GUESS SHE GOT TIRED WAITING FOR YOU—TWO FELLOWS SHE KNEW CAME IN ON A TRAIN AND THEY TOOK HER AND PERIOD TO A MOVIE—

Bo Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—A business woman who takes the Suffrage Amendment seriously and who has endeavored to engage in district politics, is experiencing serious qualms.

"The political district club," she says, "is solely a club for men. Since I do not spit, and play poker, there is nothing to interest me!"

VERSATILE MERCHANT.

I discovered recently a benefactor of the human race, unknown, unheralded and unsung.

His name is Russell and his laboratory, studio and study is located on West 53rd Street. An old-fashioned swinging sign announces that the Worthington Brothers deals in Pneumonia Salve, Cleaning and Scouring Products and Old Fashioned Vanilla.

JACK-OF-ALL-TRADES.

Like my old friend, Tony Delino, Pedal Polishing Maestro, one time member of the Italian army, who used to walk around with his pants pocket full of cheap diamonds. We called him "Kid Tiffany." His business card was inscribed as follows:

Prof. Tony Delino. Shoe Shining, Florist, Diamonds, Watches, Real Estate and Fencing.

And 'way down, in the southwest corner of the card he had added: "Furnaces attended to."

WISE CRACK.

Longacre III was descending on the "charms" of a certain unpleasant female Broadwayfarer.

"She's the kind of janc," said Lil, "you just naturally love to hate!"

PROCLAMATION!

Hank Mencken, the Year's Most Interesting Bridegroom, having been married nearly a month, breezed into town this week to take a squint at the Booboisie on its native heath, and to make sure that none of those damned Philistines were putting anything over on him while his back was turned.

A few days before his marriage, in a newspaper interview, he said: "Now that I am selling myself, I think of another good quality, one that I consider important in any relation and particularly so in marriage. I am a polite man. I know that politeness is possible even between active enemies who see each other only occasionally, and I think it is one of the most important qualities for people who have to see each other all the time."

"I expect to be polite to my wife under any circumstances that may arise. I shall expect the same politeness from her, and if I don't get it, there will be hell to pay!"

WHAT IS POLITENESS?

The interviewers had all that in mind when they crossed the threshold of the Mencken hotel-suite the other day.

Mrs. Mencken smiled and apologized for the water-wave net on her hair.

The newspapermen didn't give a darn about hair nets.

"Is he polite?" they shouted.

"Of course he is polite," smiled Mrs. Hank. Then she added: "I don't know just what to say. I haven't the knack for clever interviewing. Ask Henry. He knows how to do that."

She elevated her voice and called him; and he responded like a subway turnstile to a nickel.

"Henry," said Sara Mencken, "what is politeness?"

BLUSH, YOU VIOLET!

"Politeness," said H. L., toying with a lump of cracked ice, "is the absence of the reformer complex—of any desire to improve other people. Let them alone. They are doing the best they can, poor fish, wishing they were in Heaven and afraid to try to get there."

He turned and regarded his wife with an understanding smile.

"It's all so easy for her," he said.

Mercer County Official Here Last Night Says Voting Machines Please

Between now and the general election Tuesday, November 4, the subject of voting machines will be discussed pro and con by the voters of New Castle who will decide at the election whether or not the old fashioned prepared ballots will be supplanted with the mechanical ballots.

At the annual election of the American Legion last evening, Commissioner Harry Gibson of Mercer county, Peter J. Whalen, chief custodian of Mercer county voting machines, and John DeSappia of Farrell were present and informed the members of the post how well satisfied public officials, newspapers and voters are with the machines.

In commenting on the adoption of machines for the five large communities of Mercer county, Harry Gibson,
Mercer county commissioner said:
"The initial use of voting machines at the spring primary Tuesday, May 20, in Farrell and Greenville proved to be satisfactory from every angle. The voters of Sharon, Sharpsville, Farmington and Grove City at the 1929 general election sanctioned the adoption of machines by a large majority.

In compliance with the voting machine law and the wishes of the electors, the commissioners purchased 41 machines sufficient to equip the election districts of these five communities. In the first allotment 15 were procured for the primary, seven being allotted to Greenville and eight to Farrell. The remaining 26 have been delivered and will be utilized this fall in Sharon, Grove City and Sharpsville.

"We experienced no difficulties on election day due to the splendid schools of instruction conducted for the election officers and voters. A half hour after the close of the polls the election returns were announced in 'extra editions' issued by the Sharon Herald and News-Telegraph. In former years with the paper ballots the count was delayed for hours, and with the human element involved in counting the ballots, discrepancies were inevitable.

"In regard to the financial saving effected through the use of machines, it is conservatively estimated that $3,800 is derived annually. This amount of saving is created by reason of the fact that $20 is saved on each election board, and the appreciable reduction of expense because of no paper ballots. In this item alone about $1,000 is saved.

"Recently I made a visit to one of the plants of voting machine manufacturers where I saw one machine that is over 30 years old which is still in operation. In many communities of New York, Connecticut and other states the same machines that were secured 30 years ago are still being used today."

Mr. Whalen, who is in charge of preparing and delivering the machines to the various polling places, states that no mechanical difficulties were encountered at the primary and that many of the voters cast their ballot in 30 seconds.
